warns, "It is later than you think."
He accuses eminent Americans, including two former presidents and Chief Justice Earl Warren, of degrees of complicity. And the Kennedy administration, as well, is "very weak and soft in dealing with the Communist threat," he says.
To him, this plot is the touchstone that decomplicates the complicated. It gives him one simple, easily grasped explanation for all the intricate problems of today and the immediate past—Berlin, Cuba, Katanga, Laos, Korea, Viet Nam, China, and even the events that led to Pearl Harbor.
"The real government of our country," he says, is the Council on Foreign Relations and he calls it "the invisible government."
Most Americans are unaware of the situation, he says, having been blinded by Communist infiltration of the federal government, the churches, schools, and armed forces. Press, radio and television,—he says this, looking a re-

2 Major Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Democrat Graham B. Purcell Jr. takes his seat in Congress today with praise for the Kennedy administration and some reservations about two of its programs.
Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson led a band of fellow Texans in welcoming Purcell, his wife and three children to the capital Sunday.
Purcell's overwhelming victory Saturday over Joe Meissner, a conservative Republican businessman, clearly was a sweet one for the Democrats.
In his campaign Purcell promised support for the Kennedy administration. Sunday night, when he found his family guests at John's home, he maintained his election demonstrated "an acceptance of the Kennedy-Johnson administration in northern Texas."
However, in a post-election press conference at Wichita Falls, the 42-year-old state district judge listed two reservations involving administration policy.
"I am not in favor of federal for aid to education and I am not in favor of medical aid under Social Security," he said.

World Comes to End for Mentally Retarded Lad as Nine Die in Fire

BUCKLAND, Mass. (AP) — perished in the flames that "They're all gone. There's no one left but me."
That pathetic cry, sobbed by a 11-year-old boy, Deome Jr., mentally retarded, was the first alarm of a fire that took nine lives early Sunday morning in this western Massachusetts village.
Those who died included his six children and three adults mother, Mrs. Robert Deome, 32.

Sad and Utterly Alone is 11-year-old Robert Deome Jr., only survivor of a fire that killed his mother, a brother, two grandparents and five cousins in Buckland, Mass., Sunday. Robert escaped the flames by plunging through glass of a rear door. The boy, mentally retarded, looks out a window from a neighbors home.

Thursday May Be Orbital Day
For John Glenn
Astronaut Spends Weekend Working
On Preparations

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Project Mercury officials say the next attempt to rocket astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. three times around the world will come no earlier than Thursday.
Thus, today may have dawned T minus 73 hours for the Marine lieutenant colonel who sat more than five hours in the waiting spacecraft Saturday before weather forced a postponement.
Glenn, 40, attended Sunday services in Riverside Presbyterian Church at Cocoa Beach, and told the Rev. Charles E. Pfeiffer when he left, "Don't worry, I'll be back."
Otherwise Glenn was busy with preparations for his trip. Before church he attended an evaluation session. In the afternoon he donned his space suit and went through an hour-long practice mission in the space trainer.
Rocket and spacecraft crews worked on the Atlas booster rocket and the Friendship 7 atop it. They also went through a dress rehearsal of the last critical hours of the launch-day countdown. All systems were reported checking out well.
The critical problem at this stage again seemed to be the weather. Will clouds or winds over this missile base prevent the Atlas from being launched by limiting the visibility or making the few unsteady moments of the rocket's liftoff dangerous?

Heavy Seas
Will heavy seas, primarily in the Atlantic Ocean, put in doubt a safe recovery of Glenn and his capsule after the earth has been orbited?
On Saturday, a concentrated bank of clouds, nearly 1,000 feet thick, spread over central Florida.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Southern University, the nation's largest state school for Negroes, reopened today with hundreds of students heading for classes despite earlier threats of classroom boycotts.
Some students said they thought the call by a student leader for the boycott would fall through. A few hours before classes, 102 of about 300 faculty members released a signed statement calling for a "constructive reappraisal" of the university's policy toward student protests against segregation.
"I am not in favor of federal for aid to education and I am not in favor of medical aid under Social Security," he said.

State Democrats Preparing For 'Hard and Doubtful' Race

Local Politicians Hear Plans, Lectures at Party Gathering

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — The key leaders of the Democratic Party organization prepared here during the weekend for what they realistically predict will be a hard and doubtful campaign against the reviving Republican adversary in the new election season.
The early oiling and polishing of the campaign equipment of the party is one sign of the kind of election battle it expects to fight. Never before have the Wisconsin political parties launched their campaigns so early. The Democratic organization sessions here for the last three days followed a similar rally for Republican leaders at Stevens Point a week earlier.
Another symptom of Democratic realism was the sophisticated method and content of the organization seminar. About 200 delegates attended with their expenses paid by state party headquarters. Rarely have the Democrats in Wisconsin had the resources to pay for the services of local agents.

Politicians Bus
The headquarters staff men, moreover, scheduled events that kept the local politicians busy during long daily sessions and into the night-time hours, listening to lectures on money-raising, candidate recruitment, publicity, voter canvassing, challenging poll irregularities and many of the other mechanical details of politics which Democrats tended to ignore in their years of minority status.
Attorney General John W. Reynolds, in a speech on the legal aspects of political party management, asked party men to supervise local elections closely for irregularities which he claimed have become habitual in some Republican districts. The solicitation of absentee ballots by Republicans, he said, has cost the Democrats thousands of votes in past years. He said the party should examine all absentee voter records in each locality and insist that each ballot was actually sent out in response to a signed request by an elector. He recalled that the Democrats unseated a

Three Ways to Resume Test Ban Talks Listed
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain have proposed to Russia three possible ways of resuming negotiations for a treaty to ban nuclear tests.
This was announced by the State Department today on the heels of the indefinite breakup of the 20-year-old test ban conference in Geneva.
The department said the United States and Britain informed the Soviets at Geneva that they were willing to seek a common basis for re-establishing test ban negotiations.
1 Under the auspices of the 18-nation general disarmament conference starting at Geneva March 14.
2 Through normal diplomatic channels.
3 Through informal discussions between the test ban delegations at Geneva.

Cries Uncontrollably
The boy, crying uncontrollably at times, said he was jarred out of bed by what seemed to be an explosion but couldn't see through the smoke.
"I tried to get to my mother's room," he said, "but I couldn't. There was so much smoke and fire. Before I got out I saw my mother on the floor in the living room by the stairs. She kept yelling 'Get out! Get out!'"
The Hunts said the boy was very confused. He had only pajamas when he came to the Hunt house but in a short time neighbors produced clothing.
At Monson State Hospital he entered an institution where his father, 35, has been a patient for two years.
The cause of the fire was not known. State Police detective Lt. Timothy Keane, assigned to the Massachusetts fire marshal's office, said a probable cause was a basement heating plant explosion, at Geneva.

Panic, War, Tidal Waves
Possibly Nothing Will Go Right Next Monday

BY ANDREW MEISELS

NEW YORK (AP) — If you believe in astrology, don't make any plans for next Monday. There may not be a next Monday.
Even if there is a next Monday, the astrologers say, it won't be much fun. Storms, tidal waves, earthquakes, the sinking of continents, financial panic and the outbreak of World War III are liable to make the day hectic.
All these dire predictions, and more, are being made by astrologers the world over who expect the advent of catastrophe some time Sunday. They base their prophecies on an inauspicious combination of the planets in the constellation of Capricorn.

Astronomers Disagree
Astronomers — serious students of the heavenly bodies — agree that the five visible planets of Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn will be grouped along with the sun and moon around the constellations of Capricorn and Aquarius. Beyond this point, the astronomers and the astrologers go separate ways.

Argentina, Chile Accede To Majority

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — The foreign ministers of the American states agreed in principle today to "suspend" Fidel Castro's Cuban regime from hemisphere family councils.
A U.S. delegation source disclosed the breakthrough on this toughest issue of the conference, which has prolonged its deliberations here beyond the scheduled closing today. It came when Argentina and Chile — members of the so-called soft seven bloc led by Brazil and Mexico — accepted the majority view on the suspension procedure.
The U.S. informant speculated that the United States would get 17 to 18 of the 20 available votes for a policy statement that the Castro regime is unfit to sit in hemisphere councils so long as it embraces the Communist philosophy. The Council of the Organization of American States will be instructed by this conference to decide "without delay" just how Cuba can be suspended.
General Accord
Agreeing not to disagree, the Western Hemisphere foreign ministers reached a general accord that there should be a series of at least six resolutions embodied in a final declaration so that those who wanted to vote against certain aspects could do so.
Secretary of State Dean Rusk appeared to have achieved limited success to this extent:
Most, if not all, of the 19 Latin-American republics judging Cuba agree the Havana regime should be declared incompatible with the American system. Most are agreed the government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro should be suspended or expelled from OAS agencies. Most are agreed there should be no arms trade between their countries and Cuba. They hold Castro's representatives should not sit on the Inter-American Defense Board and they feel a vigilance committee should be created to keep watch against subversion.
There were great differences of

Castro Praises
Soviets for Help
In His Revolution

MOSCOW (AP) — In an interview published today in the Communist party paper Pravda and government paper Izvestia, Prime Minister Fidel Castro said his revolution in Cuba never could have survived without Soviet help.
"We know that without the Soviet Union, without the Socialist camp's assistance, a revolution in such a small country as Cuba would have been impossible because of imperialist aggression," Castro said.
The Soviet news agency Tass said the interview was granted in Havana Jan. 23 to Pavel Satyukov, chief editor of Pravda; and Alexei Adzhubei, Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, who is chief editor of Izvestia.
Adzhubei interviewed President Kennedy last November and is stopping off at the White House Tuesday to see the President en route home.
Castro lashed out at the meeting of foreign ministers of the Organization of American States, assembled at Punta del Este, Uruguay, to consider measures to be taken against Cuba.

Kreisler, Noted
Violinist, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Fritz Kreisler, one of the great violin virtuosos of the last half century, died today. He was 88. Many music lovers knew him as "Mr. Violin."
Death came to him in the Harkness Pavilion of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center where he had been a patient for 16 days. His agent said a heart attack, along with old age, brought the end.
Over the years, his name had become almost synonymous with violin music. A man with a huge affection for the common man, he had helped popularize good music among the masses.
He made Dvorak's "Humoresque" one of the best loved compositions of all times.
Master Performer
Kreisler not only was a master performer, but also a versatile composer, his works ranging from chamber music and operetta to talk dances that have become classics.
In the last several years, Kreisler and his wife, Harriet, lived in virtual seclusion in their Manhattan apartment. With his hearing and sight failing, Kreisler seldom appeared in public recently.
His wife is seriously ill.
In his performing days, Kreisler could make his Stradivarius

President Creates New Cabinet Post

Robert Weaver Would be First Negro in Cabinet, if Congress Doesn't Veto Plan in 60 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sends his plan to establish a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs to Congress this week.

A special message setting out the administration's new farm program, originally scheduled to be submitted Tuesday, was postponed indefinitely today.

The White House announcement did not say when it would be re-scheduled.

The farm message, when it is ready, is expected to endorse broader control programs with a view to bringing stability to all farm commodities.

Farm legislation usually engenders political controversy and Kennedy's proposals are not expected to be an exception.

Also laden with political dynamite is Kennedy's message on urban affairs.

Kennedy is expected to hammer again on the theme that a new federal office is essential to coordinate plans for solving transit, traffic, slum and utility problems of metropolitan areas.

Killed Bill
Last week, Republicans and Southern Democrats combined in the House Rules Committee to kill the administration's urban affairs bill. Kennedy promptly announced he would attempt to upset that action by proposing the department in a government reorganization plan.

Kennedy has confirmed that he intends to appoint Robert C. Weaver, a Negro who now heads the Housing and Home Finance Agency, as head of the new department.

Both the House and Senate plan to debate this week a major administration proposal—federal aid for colleges—with chances of passage rated good in each branch.

Much Broader
The Senate version is much broader than the one before the House, so there may be difficulty in adjusting the differences in conference.

The House has scheduled its $1.5-billion bill for consideration starting Tuesday.

Senate leaders also may bring up that branch's $2.76-billion measure Tuesday or Wednesday. The stripped-down House college bill would provide $300 million a year for five years to help build classrooms, laboratories and libraries. Sixty per cent would be in matching grants, the rest in low-interest loans.

The Senate bill contains $1.5 billion to aid in construction for classrooms and other facilities, all in the form of loans; $924 million for student scholarships; and $250 million in matching grants to aid in construction of community junior colleges.

There may be a flurry in the Senate today over whether to send an administration civil rights bill to the Judiciary Committee, the graveyard of such legislation in the past.

Mansfield Bill
The bill, introduced last Thursday by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, provides that a sixth-grade education be the only literacy test for voters in federal elections.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he felt the bill should be referred to the Rules Committee, which handles elections legislation, and that he might seek to force this today by a vote. Mansfield said he expected it to go to Judiciary.

The Atomic Energy Commission will send its annual report to Congress Tuesday.

Through the week, committees on both sides of the Capitol will be active.

The Senate hearings on military speech policies will resume Tuesday. The Senate antitrust subcommittee reopens its lengthy drug industry probe Tuesday for a three-day run.

In the House, the Ways and Means Committee continues its closed-door work all week in an effort to finish consideration of the President's tax revision proposals.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said Sunday a discharge petition may be used to get Kennedy's old age medical care bill out of the House Rules Committee and onto the House floor for a vote.

Public Affairs Chief Gets New State Department Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is relieving Roger Tubby as assistant secretary for public affairs, appointing him U. S. representative to the G-7 office in Geneva.

The announcement came Saturday after a week of reports that a change was in the making. Among the reported changes for the switch was that Tubby had been unable to establish a close working relationship.

Well known
As chief of public affairs in the State Department, Tubby, 51, was known to men as a person of information about international relations and diplomatic developments.

This staff source has brought him into conflict with the traditional preference of diplomats for secrecy, especially on matters under negotiation.

Officials said Tubby's successor had not been designated but that high on the list of possibilities was Robert J. Manning, 42, who resigned last December as Sunday editor of the New York Herald Tribune and formerly headed the London bureau of Time-Life-Fortune.

The State Department said Tubby will remain in the position of assistant secretary for several weeks before taking on his Geneva assignment with the rank of ambassador.

France, Monaco Hope to Reach Settlement

Tiny Kingdom Has Troubled Its Big Neighbor to North

Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — The French Government today was expected to be merciful and settle the "tempest in a teapot" that has suddenly arisen between this country and Prince Rainier's tiny Monaco.

Last Thursday Rainer dismissed his French-born Prime Minister Emile Pelletier after a violent scene during which he reportedly expressed himself crudely against France and Pelletier.

The French took the scene and Pelletier's dismissal as an insult to their dignity and a breach of diplomatic propriety.

The background of the French-Monaco quarrel is a complicated money affair involving the Monaco radio station and another important network called Radio Number One whose seat is in Luxembourg.

Sold Shares
In 1958 the principality's major bank, the Society of Bank and Precious Metals, sold 74,000 shares it possessed of a holding called "Image and Sound."

Image and Sound, a Monaco company, partly owns the Monte Carlo radio station and Europe Number One. The French government bought 30,000 shares of the 74,000 sold and therefore became part owner of the two important radio corporations.

Two weeks ago Rainer signed an ordinance that practically went back on the sales of the shares and forbade their trading in the Paris stock market.

The Prince reportedly acted on behalf of local financial interests who did not wish to see shares in "foreign" hands.

The French government alerted Pelletier, who had a dual role of French representative in Monaco and Monaco's premier, and sent him to see Prince Rainier.

Rainer agreed to withdraw his ordinance but used what the French termed "insulting" language before doing so and furthermore said he refused to see anything more of Pelletier.

Accept Dismissal
The French, who have been satisfied by the withdrawal of the ordinance, are now bound to accept the dismissal of Pelletier from his Monaco job and replace him.

According to an agreement signed between France and Monaco in 1918 the prime minister of Monaco is chosen by the prince from a list of three names submitted by the French government.

A new list is expected to be presented to Rainer soon and no formal action taken against principality or its ruler.

During the weekend French officials discussed the possibility of reprisals against little Monaco such as cutting off its electricity and gas that is produced in

Confusion Results Over German Talks

Western Regime Apparently Will Wait Out U. S.-Soviet Discussion

By David M. Nichol

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — Official West Germany apparently will await the outcome of a new round in the Gromyko-Thompson talks in Moscow before taking any decision about Germany's future role in these discussions.

Demands that Bonn should intervene or accept Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for direct negotiations have been the cause of much week-end speculation here but they seem to have stirred very little echo in the Foreign Ministry itself.

Well-informed German correspondents are reporting from Moscow in the meantime that the Soviet Union's own intentions are far from clear.

Attacks Continue

The propaganda attacks against West Germany are continuing hand-in-hand with parallel efforts to persuade the West Germans that they should turn their backs on their Western Allies and seek their own deal in the Kremlin.

The Soviet proposals for direct talks were contained in a memo without address or signature that was handed to the West German ambassador in Moscow late in December.

Such talks, the memo said, must under no circumstances disturb the "good relations" between Moscow and East Germany's communist regime.

Deal
At the same time German correspondents are being given to understand by Soviet spokesmen that the Soviets recognize the near impossibility of improving relations with Bonn while East

Margaret, Husband Attacked by Papers

Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON — Princess Margaret and her photographer husband, former Antony Armstrong-Jones, were greeted with a shower of unwelcome attention from the British popular press on their first day back home after a month's holiday in the West Indies.

"While the Earl of Snowdon has been away in the sunny Caribbean he has changed his hair style," read the caption. "Now he has curls on top. And of course he has a sun tan as well."

Officials of the royal household had hoped that the Earl's Bohemian background would get less attention from the critics following the birth of his son and heir three months ago.

Gov. Nelson as a Forecaster

When Gov. Nelson calmly predicted the other day that his Democratic party will oppose a broadening in the future of the state's new hybrid sales tax program, while the Republicans will be committed to extending it as a revenue device, he was reverting to the role of politician and vote-seeker. He seemed more concerned with his image before the voters in a campaign year than in a serious appraisal of state finance.

The governor is of course entitled to indulge such political techniques and postures as appear to him to be useful. But he also has sounded somewhat pious lately about the obligations of the newspapers in explaining the fiscal realities of his state and ours.

Had the newspapers done a better job, he has said now and again, the public would have accepted the need for tax revision long before it did.

Well, the newspapers' responsibility for accurate reporting of events in government and politics is greater than their obligation to express political preferences and outline political policy, however the latter function is assessed. And it is their reporting of such blandly unrealistic utterances as the governor is now putting forth on the eve of a new campaign for voter support that confounds public understanding.

Robinson and Feller in the Hall of Fame

Jackie Robinson and Bob Feller have been elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., apparently to the satisfaction of almost everyone.

Rules require that players must have been retired from baseball for five years before they are eligible. Further, it is required that candidates must receive 75 per cent of the votes cast so it is obvious not all candidates make it the first time around. But Jackie and Bob made it the first year they were eligible, the first time anyone was named on the first try since the original five were picked back in 1936. Jackie received 124 votes which was four more than he needed and Feller received 150 votes.

Feller was a natural choice. Few people will argue about that. In fact, it appears that at most about 6 per cent of the baseball writers questioned the choice. The chief interest centers about the choice of Robinson, the first Negro player elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame. This is not his only first, however. Another important first came in 1947 when he broke the color line in organized baseball. Branch Rickey, who then was general manager of the

The governor knows as well as anybody—and better than most—that if the demands for higher state and local spending continue, as they probably will, there will be a need for expanding the state revenue base. The sales tax will be the logical choice for precisely the reason that the hesitant partial sales tax this year was chosen—there is no way that the income tax schedule can be stretched further, in safety.

At his news conference, the governor blithely remarked that he would advise the Democrats to stand for higher taxes on business corporations, including banks, to cover the $60,000,000 or greater state deficit that looms for the next biennium. There is room for honest dispute, on the basis of the long wrangling on the subject, on the state tax laws as they affect banks. But the revenue potential of the most recent bank tax proposal, prepared on the governor's terms, was only about $2,000,000. Policy and equity aside, this is a bagatelle, and the governor knows it well.

We preferred the governor's stance at the Eau Claire convention of his party last fall, when he announced that he intended to risk its alienation with a tax proposal including a limited sales tax. If the party didn't like it, he declared, it could get a new candidate more easily than he could get a new conscience.

The Second Battle of the Bay of Pigs

Slick Operator

When Extreme Middle-of-Roader Offers Aid Hang Onto Your Life

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

It's getting so you can hardly pick up a paper or a magazine that doesn't warn you about the dangers inherent in the radical right and the lunatic left. And I agree. Yet, as a congenial pessimist, I am concerned also about what seems to me an even greater menace, and that's the extremist who, in the main, is doing most of the warning: the piously ritualistic middle-of-the-roader. Sometimes, as I view the damage he and his ilk have done, I suspect him of using a variation of the old carnival racket.

In ancient days, I am told, the carnival boss often worked in cahoots with a group of light-fingered gentry. And, when a goodly number of rustics was gathered together with their wives and progeny, the boss would step to a platform and megaphone a warning, "Beware of pickpockets!" Immediately, the unsuspecting farmer would clutch at the pocket that contained his wallet to reassure himself.

Never Suspected

Thereupon, having located where the gold mine lay, three or four of the boys would jostle him, apologize profusely and go their way—with the wallet, of course. And nobody ever suspected the man with the megaphone; hadn't he warned them publicly?

It was an ingenious and perhaps laudable example of free enterprise, but it was considered illegal and, occasionally, some practitioners of the art went to jail for—pardon the pun—their convictions.

The modern lads are slicker and stay within the law. You still lose your wallet, but you can't complain to the police. It works something like this:

This right winger is walking along, minding his own business (i. e., isolationist) and humming "G. I. Bless America" (i. e., super patriot). Suddenly a left winger steps out of a clump of bushes, points a gun and says, "Your Money or your Life?"

Enter the middle-of-the-roader in his role of the Good Samaritan. "What's going on?" he asks. "I loathe violence, and I'm certain any disagreement you gentlemen have can be settled by settled by peaceful negotiation."

"Let him put his gun down," says the Rabid Rightist, "and I'll negotiate with the so-and-so."

"Not on your life," snarls the Liberal Leftist. "The age of colonialism is dead, and we have-nots are going to expatriate what is rightfully ours. How come you have $142.50 in your thieving pocket at this very moment, while I have nothing?"

"That's my take-home pay," protests the Troglodyte, "after deductions for Social Security, withholding tax, union dues and a voluntary contribution to Labor's League for Political Education. I worked five hours overtime this week for the telephone company."

"Aha!" cries the New Nationalist. "The telephone company! A self-confessed paid agent of the exploiting monopolists! A saboteur!"

"Please, gentlemen, please!" begs the Good Samaritan. "Such bickering only increases the tension. I have listened patiently to both sides, and I'm sure we can reach an honorable and lasting peace if you allow me to mediate. Now, sir," to the Rightist, "what is it precisely you want?"

'Money or His Life'

"I want him to get the hell out of here and leave me alone," says the Reactionary.

"And I stand pat," says the Agrarian Reformer. "His money or his life."

Irreconcilable demands? Not to the modern Solomon. He cuts the disputed $142.50 right down the middle and hands $71.25 to the hold-up man, $11.25 is returned to the rightist, the other

Looking Backward

Soldier Describes Countryside

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 1, 1862

(Excerpts from a letter written by an Appleton soldier stationed with the 10th Wisconsin Regiment in Kentucky. He identified himself only by the initials P. B.)

Camp Jefferson, Ky. — I will tell you something about what the Tenth (Wisconsin) has been doing for itself and the country since leaving the state.

What little of Kentucky I have seen reminds me in its general appearance of the huge knob at Clifton (High Cliff). If you ever saw that, you will know just about the condition of the country by imagining such cliffs as that all over, with a brooklet gurgling along the base of each knob.

Huge boulders of limestone rear their frowning fronts on either side and, if you look sharp, a fissure may be detected in the rock, which, if you will huc penetrate it, may lead you hundreds of feet underneath the mass of earth. Not that I would say that such is the case with each and every mound, but it is a very general thing. I have visited three of these caves, found within five miles of camp. They are truly places of curiosity. They are all alike in general detail and outline, the same molten formations and the same wet bottoms, and bats and curious animals of apparently the same generation.

Passing along the knob covered with chestnut, hickory, oak and other timber, we at last came upon a level plat of ground perhaps 10 acres in dimension. This was "cleared off," or more properly described as unencumbered with timber, but exhibiting a "right smart" crop of stone, in the centre of which stands an antiquated farm house with its inevitable stone chimney looming up outside.

A pair of curly headed little niggers eye you curiously as you whelps of dogs bark spitefully, approach and a couple of mangy in the door stands the master of the house, looking as though a shake of the "ague" was about to put a finishing touch on all that was mortal of him.

Entering into conversation, you soon learn his lack of education, information or knowledge or events beyond the limits of his own "farm."

A Yankee naturally asks him why he does not clear his fillable land of stones. "Oh, because his father left them there." And thus it is with everything.

The small crop of tobacco raised is getting mouldy from being exposed to the action of the weather, when a few more boards placed on the barn would effectually protect it.

"Oh that will do well enough," the farmer says, "we can press that down and sell it to you Northerners just as well as though it were pure."

25 YEARS AGO

Monday, Jan. 25, 1937

Relief efforts were pushed as heavy rains swelled the flood waters of the Ohio River. Louisville, Ky., appealed for federal martial law. Cincinnati, Ohio, judged the worst hit, suffered from disastrous fires compounding relief problems.

Alfred S. Bradford, Appleton, was reelected president of the Outagamie County Bar Association. Speaker at the election meeting was Joseph Martin, Green Bay, justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

The Wisconsin Telephone Co. that day reopened its court fight against rate reductions ordered by the State Public Service Commission.

Diplomats seeking to localize the "little world war" in Spain received long-awaited notes from Italy and Germany promising to check volunteers if other world powers would take the same action.

Total interest paid to date on Wisconsin's Civil War debt amounted to $11 million, $3.5 million more than it cost to build the state capitol.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Gemmer were honored by a group of friends at a party observing their 25th wedding anniversary.

Thoughts on Death of A Statehouse Reporter

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The passing of a colleague in the peculiarly fraternal profession of journalism is a distressing event. In the recent death of Willard R. Smith, one of the best reporters who ever was assigned to the coverage of Wisconsin state government, Wisconsin journalism has lost one of its distinguished journeymen.

Wyngaard

Willard Smith always insisted upon being called a reporter, because it was a proud calling. In the sophisticated style of these times, there is a search for synonyms and substitutes that is perhaps a mark of the age. There are commentators and analysts and the rest. For Bill Smith to be called anything except a reporter was enough to rouse his scorn. He was a good one, moreover, one of the best of his times, as many of the leading citizens of the state eloquently testified by their presence at his retirement party only about two years ago.

THE IDEAL

It is virtually the trademark of the conscientious and skulled reporter that he doesn't toot his horn about the importance of his work in the operations of public affairs. He prefers to let his performance tell its own story. But he is keenly aware of his responsibilities, nonetheless. A thousand times during his $60 being retained to help defray the cost of the United Nations. "And what about his life?" asks the gunman.

Again the judicious mediator goes right down the middle. "I can only, in all fairness, allow you to half kill him," he decrees. "How about shooting him in the leg?"

That is done, and everybody goes home happily. Especially the middle-of-the-roader, who now gives out an interview telling how he preserved law and order and is promptly nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize by leading liberal journals.

Why can't we all learn from that good man?

Copyright, 1962

40 years of loyal and painstaking reporting of governmental operations, Bill Smith listened to politicians and office-holders holding forth on the qualities of Wisconsin public administration and the superiority of Wisconsin government on the whole to that of other jurisdictions in the country.

I like to think that Bill Smith, had he been called upon to respond at some of those occasions, would have reminded the boastful orators that a part of the quality of Wisconsin politics and government must be attributed to the understanding and information of the people and that these can only result from a good performance by a reporter on the governmental news beat.

Many politicians, and presumably many private citizens, have only a shallow appreciation of the task of the professional political reporter, on the one hand, and his own notions of his duty, on the other.

It no longer is just a matter of gathering "copy", whatever legends may suggest, and whatever foundation of fact such legends may once have had. The public affairs reporter's job today is selection, according to his sense of obligation to the reader who is the ultimate consumer of his services. The copy desk editor isn't there. The editorial writer is in his office. The publisher is not there. The reporter's eyes and ears, his intelligence and understanding and his integrity are involved in the public information upon which the successful operation of the system relies.

INTEGRITY

Similarly, the reporter with a professional regard for his tasks recognizes his responsibility as primarily to the reader, and only secondarily to his editor although he is the employer. The experienced reporter knows that objectivity often is unobtainable, even if it is desirable. But in the ideal he is aware of his prejudices, and on guard against them.

Bill Smith approached that ideal more closely than any of the men with whom I have worked in many years, and there are a hundred others around the country who can vouch for his helpfulness and inspiration.

He was a gentleman, as a legislative committee clerk once unconsciously asserted for the public record at the statehouse. Meticulously listing all of the persons who attended a public proceeding, for the minutes, she reported that "among others present were members of the press and Mr. Willard R. Smith."

Private Mail Service Pays In Britain

From The Miami Herald

Wonders never cease. The latest occurred in London when private enterprise moved into the postoffice business, of all things.

For 11 days, 173,000 British postal workers — government employees had been staging a slowdown for higher pay. Huge backlogs of unsorted mail piled up in postoffices across the land.

A private postal service opened a mail reception center in downtown London. Business began pouring in. The fees, naturally, are much higher than the tax-subsidized rate of three cents to mail a letter anywhere in the British Isles through the government postoffice.

But people were willing to pay 10 cents for delivery in London, 40 cents for distances up to 200 miles and 90 cents for over 200 miles.

It will be interesting to see whether the private mail service outlasts the slowdown in England. If so, advocates of Big Government will have to find a new line to replace the familiar: "Look to the postoffice — you wouldn't want to turn it over to private enterprise, would you?"

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"Is maybe Stalin wasn't ALL bad, comrade teacher! . . . Is remembering we always got a holiday on his birthday!"

Commonplace Cuisine

Official Russian and American receptions and dinners differ, it seems in more ways than what is permitted for conversation or in the guest lists.

One thing Mrs. John Kennedy has done for the White House, according to those who have eaten there, is to make available a wide variety of menus. Excellent dishes have ranged from New England fish chowder to the richest of truffle sauces.

But the chef in the Kremlin reports that the menus served at Soviet state dinners and receptions have a sameness about them that dates back to Peter The Great and Ivan The Terrible. First of all there is vodka and caviar. Then comes horseshit, chicken or turkey and preserved fruit, a paragon or pear, a parfait or Pear Melba. Even the wine list doesn't sound inspired, although it is more varied—a white wine with the soup, a red wine with the fowl, Soviet champagne with the dessert and Armenian cognac with the coffee.

Some Russian dishes are extremely tasty. But the official menus certainly lack imagination. It may not, of course, make any difference at all in the cold or even a hot war.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Britain's Transport Minister says French chefs aren't hygienic. Well, once the French get the bugs out of their cooking, it'll taste quite British . . . and we can all perish of hunger together.

If K wants us to buy $100 million in United Nations bonds. Slogan of pro-bond crowd: "U. Thant, take it with you." Slogan of anti-bond crowd: "Ban the bonds."

The Kennedys invite Khrushchev's daughter to dine at the White House. Red China's Chau En-lai has a question for other Communists: "Would you want your daughter to eat with an imperialist?"

Harvard Young Republicans pan the G. O. P.'s "Ev and Charles." Next we can expect the Vassar young Democrats to ask a ban on all photos of Jackie, Caroline, Ethel and Princess Radzwili.

California's Gov. Pat Brown says his foe, Dick Nixon, is all "knees and elbows." In politics, this is known as trying to leave your opponent without a leg to stand on.

Q—Why do the Democrats want a department of urban affairs?

A—Yeah, why can't they carry on their affairs in some discreet country hotel like everybody else?

Most Generals Don't Write Own Speeches

Junior Officers Author Them, While Others are Censored

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the key questions—not emphasized so far in the Senate inquiry into censorship of military officers' speeches—is how many of them actually write their own speeches.

It can be reliably stated that few do although the Senate subcommittee got top brass complaints about the kind of censoring they got and the fact that low-ranking subordinates used the red pencil.

It is doubtful that many of the military speech-makers even see the speeches written for them before they are submitted to the Pentagon censors. The Defense Department's Security Review Office

Initial Speeches
Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara not long ago ordered officers to initial their speeches as evidence that they at least looked at them before sending them to the Security Review Office.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, retired chief of naval operations, complained to the subcommittee against review by Pentagon subordinates of what the top officers are going to say.

So did Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, chief of Army research. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent the subcommittee a statement saying "Let our informed military speak."

But Gen. Thomas D. White, retired Air Force chief, said he didn't mind being reviewed that the military must be subordinate to civilian control.

Rarely Write
"I rarely personally wrote a speech myself," he said. "There were relatively low level persons who wrote the speeches in the first place."

This is the usual procedure. A speech to be delivered by, say, an Army officer goes first to the Army security review to be sure but hardly for explosions.

Valley Lutheran Girl Picked for Homemaker Title

Leta Kay Neumann of Fox Valley Lutheran High School has earned the highest rating in her school in the 1962 Betty Crocker contest for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. She now becomes eligible along with winners in other state high schools for the title of State Miss Neumann Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Miss Neumann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Neumann, route 1 Appleton. She is taking a business course and will graduate from FVL in June.

it reveals no secrets and is in keeping with presidential policy. From there it is sent to the Defense Department's Security Review Office.

If along the line there is any conflict, the speech can be submitted to Arthur Sylvester, McNamara's assistant secretary in charge of public affairs or if there is still conflict to McNamara himself.

President Kennedy backs the present policy which was also Eisenhower's policy although now Eisenhower seems to be having second thoughts about it.

Backing it also are Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Robert A. Lovett, defense secretary under President Harry S. Truman.

This inquiry is the result of charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., that the military was being muzzled when it wanted to make anti-Communist talks.

Must Be Controlled
One thing upon which everyone is agreed—including Thurmond—is that the military must be subordinate to civilian control.

The French have been cited as the prime example of the danger that can be created for a republic where the generals go from open opposition to the government to conspiracy against it.

So what the Senate subcommittee hearings boil down to after a week of testimony is not whether or not top government civilians have a right to censor military men's speeches but only how it should be done.

This then becomes a matter of speech to be delivered by, say, judgment. That leaves the door wide open for a lot of wrangling Army security review to be sure but hardly for explosions.

Bryan Foy to Produce Film About Kennedy

'PT 109' Concerns President's Heroism During World War II

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Producer Bryan Foy has a rugged job—making a film that will please an important movie fan: President John F. Kennedy.

Foy, a veteran who made the first all-talking movie, is producing "PT 109," about the President's wartime heroics. If he seems confident in his choice, it may be because he's also a Democrat—and a Fitzgerald. That's the real name of his famed theatrical family.

No casting has been done yet, but everything else is getting ready. The script is being finished by Richard Breen ("Pete Kelly's Blues," "Titanic").

Director War Expert The director is war expert Ronald Walsh, whose career ranges from "Birth of a Nation" to "Objective Burma" to "Battle Cry."

San Diego will reproduce the PT training center at Melville, R. I. Ocean Reef on Key Largo, Fla., will portray the island of Rendova, Kennedy's South Pacific base.

The President was amused that anyone would want to re-create such a miserable place as Rendova, Foy reported.

Scheduled for March Getting PT boats was a problem. Only a few still exist, most of them converted to pleasure craft. The Navy was no help— "everyone in the government is bending over backward to give this picture no more help than an ordinary war picture would get, and that's as it should be," said Foy.

Three aircraft rescue craft, which could double for PTs were finally located in Florida.

Shooting on the $2-million film is expected to start between March 1 and 15, pending choice of a star. The President has approval of who will portray him, and Foy said he'll send the White House a script, too.

'Empty' Gun Kills Puerto Rican Farmer

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)— Ramon Figueroa Picard, 43, a Puerto Rican farm worker, pointed a pistol at his stomach and told his friends at a bar, "There are no bullets in it."

He pulled the trigger. The pistol fired. Picard died in a hospital shortly after arrival Sunday night, sheriff's deputies said.

Ben Casey Fights With Another Doc

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 11)—Benevolent Ben Casey meets a doctor this week who goes him one better at being nice to poor folks—and Ben doesn't like it. Jack Warden is the guest star, and he makes Dr. Charles Kozelka a fascinating figure. Kozelka tries to do double duty—his hospital work and a private practice as Skid Row's personal physician, operating out of a pool hall run by Myron McCormick. Casey (Vince Edwards) feels Kozelka isn't being true to the hospital, and cracks down. It all comes to a head when one of Kozelka's patients dies after an illegal abortion.

7-7:30 (Channel 2)—Pete and Gladys is once again pure, undiluted slapstick, but the cast boasts Cara Williams and Gale Gordon, so the effect is pleasant. Gordon is back as Uncle Paul, the butt of Gladys' best accidents—this week, there is water in the face, burned trousers and champagne in the eye, among other indignities. The plot itself isn't much.

7:30-8 (Channel 11)—The Rifleman uses the Western's favorite opening scene—the stage pulls in and an odd character steps out and never recovers from the trite beginning. This oddball is played by Arthur Malet; he's a black sheep son of a wealthy English arms manufacturer who feels the only way to prove the quality of his new rifle is to kill The Rifleman.

7:30-8 (Channel 5)—Once again, The Price Is Right begins a bonus stunt which will carry over to the next show (which will be Feb. 12, since the show is pre-Carlo next summer, will have Spain as a co-production with emptied next week). Tonight, a contestant will win a two-week

Shirley Booth Pilots 'Hazel' to Hit Status

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— One of the big hits of the 1961-62 television season is "Hazel." The big hit of Hazel is Shirley Booth. It should have come as no surprise to students of the stage and a quiet, warm kind of a show cinema that Miss Booth was able like "Father Knows Best." When to bring Ted Key's wise-cracking I found out they were going to cartoon mad to warm, humorous get the same writers to do "Hazel." Her past portrayals have won her whatever stage prizes are available — plus an Academy Award for "Come Back, Little Sheba."

Now she has helped push "Hazel" into impressive ratings, and the stage and screen may have to wait a long time for her services again.

Miss Booth talks well about "Hazel" and other matters. "I always thought if I ever did anything in television it would be a show kind of a show. I was going to do 'Hazel.' Her past portrayals have won her whatever stage prizes are available — plus an Academy Award for "Come Back, Little Sheba."

Now she has helped push "Hazel" into impressive ratings, and the stage and screen may have

Rita Hayworth to Star In Broadway Drama

NEW YORK (AP)—Rita Hayworth will make her Broadway debut next fall in a drama about a rejected wife.

Producer Herbert Swope Jr. said the glamor screen actress will costar with Gary Merrill in "Step on a Crack," written by Bernard Evlin.

"It had not occurred to me to try the stage until I read the play," Miss Hayworth said Sunday. She hasn't been near a stage since "I was little," except for audience-attended radio shows. "And by that I mean not since I was 13, 14, 15," she said.

the United Nations, an end to fordegrees, he also sees danger to the nation from desegregation, labor unions, the income tax, welfare programs, foreign alliances and water fluoridation.

The above points form a composite profile of the ultraconservative, a sharp break with the Soviet Union, the impeachment of Earl Warren, and deep surgery in the State Department and other all respects, to every rightist.

There are many groups and many different shades of opinion among them. They don't all call for the same things. Even within a given organization, the John Birch Society, for example, there are Birchers who do not endorse everything propounded by the society's founder, Robert Welch of Massachusetts.

What Size Is It?

But it does point the general direction of what appears to be

How big is the movement? Nobody can say precisely. One survey indicates that as many as 2,000 organizations may be functioning. Their total membership, however, is impossible to calculate accurately. The John Birch Society and the Minutemen do not disclose their enrollment. Some individuals belong to more than one group, overlapping. Some drop out shortly after joining. Some join but are inactive members.

The total could be millions, or only some hundreds of thousands. Some groups that have attracted the greatest attention are the Birchers, the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, the National Indignation Council, the Christian Council, and the Minutemen—or Minute Men as some groups delineate it, a loosely knit collection of bands who maneuver in the field with actual firearms and presumably are training for guerrilla warfare in case of invasion, or in case American Communists take over the country.

What's in a Name?

Such names as Freedom Center, Freedom Fighters, Christian Resistance, Project Alert, the Committee Against Nihilism, the National Anti-Communist League, American Security Council, and hundreds of others suggest the general area of the philosophy.

What type of person joins them? Stanley Mosk, attorney general of California, wrote in a report on the John Birch Society: "The cadre . . . seems to be formed primarily of wealthy businessmen, retired military officers, and little old ladies in tennis shoes."

If this is accurate for that group in that state, it hardly describes the rightist movement as a whole.

Rightist thinking has permeated many segments of American society. This reporter discussed the doctrines with housewives and corporation executives, college presidents and college students, professional men and factory workers, persons of widely varying educational and social backgrounds.

'To Do Something'

In a modest home in a suburb of Los Angeles, a housewife said, "I just love my country, that's all. I joined in order to be able to do something. Is there anything wrong with that?"

In New York City, an executive's wife said she had signed a petition to impeach Warren. "A friend showed me the record of the Supreme Court decisions affecting the Communists," she said. "I hadn't known about them."

Yes, she said, she holds Warren personally responsible.

Top Level Criticism

Severe criticism has been leveled at the rightists by President Kennedy and former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman, and many newspapers and magazines. The groups fire back in publications of their own.

And the Oneonta, N.Y., Star probably spoke for the great majority of Americans when it said, "There is a question in many open minds today whether the greatest danger to our United States is from the Reds of communism or from the Blues on the right. Each seems to believe it is right and it is the rest of us who are crazy."

Nixon Will Appear on Jack Paar Show Feb. 5

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will appear on Jack Paar's late-night TV show Feb. 5, the National Broadcasting Co. announced Sunday night.

An NBC spokesman said Paar had been trying for some time to arrange the Nixon appearance, to fulfill an agreement made in August 1960, when Nixon appeared on the show during that campaign.

Felonies Up 5,000, New York Police Say

NEW YORK (AP)—The police department reported Sunday that 113,340 felonies were committed in New York City last year, about 5,000 more than in 1960.

Police made 38,211 felony arrests in 1961, compared to 35,629 the preceding year.

Homicide reached a postwar high with 483 slayings—more than 9 a week, compared to 390 in 1960.

OAS Action Not Likely To Hurt Castro Much

Cuba No Longer Dependent on U. S., Western Hemisphere for Livelihood

BY GERRY ROBICHAUD
Chicago Daily News Service

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay

— One thing that most people should bear in mind is that no matter what this conference of American foreign ministers does to Fidel Castro it isn't likely to hurt him very much.

The point is that he is no longer dependent on the United States or the Western Hemisphere for a livelihood. So trying to read him out of the American community of nations is almost an empty gesture.

It probably won't drive him any closer to the Communist bloc than he now is, for he couldn't be any closer.

Little Effect

The only thing that could be proved by a fairly strong stand against Communist Cuba by the inter-American community is that most of the members are fed up with this subservience to Moscow. But that in itself is scarcely anything.

It probably would hurt Fidel's pride to be booted out of the Organization of American States before he has a chance to quit. It would also hurt him in the realm of what is called "world public opinion."

But nobody can eat public opinion and that is the one thing that Castro knows.

They don't eat too well in his Communist "paradise" either but any action by the OAS won't break their bones or make them hungrier.

What then is the use of even having this conference aimed at outlawing Cuba from much of the Western Hemisphere's organized activities?

Psychological Result

The result probably would be psychological rather than physical. The six-point program laid out to isolate Cuba from her blood brothers and sisters really isn't breathtaking or precedent shattering.

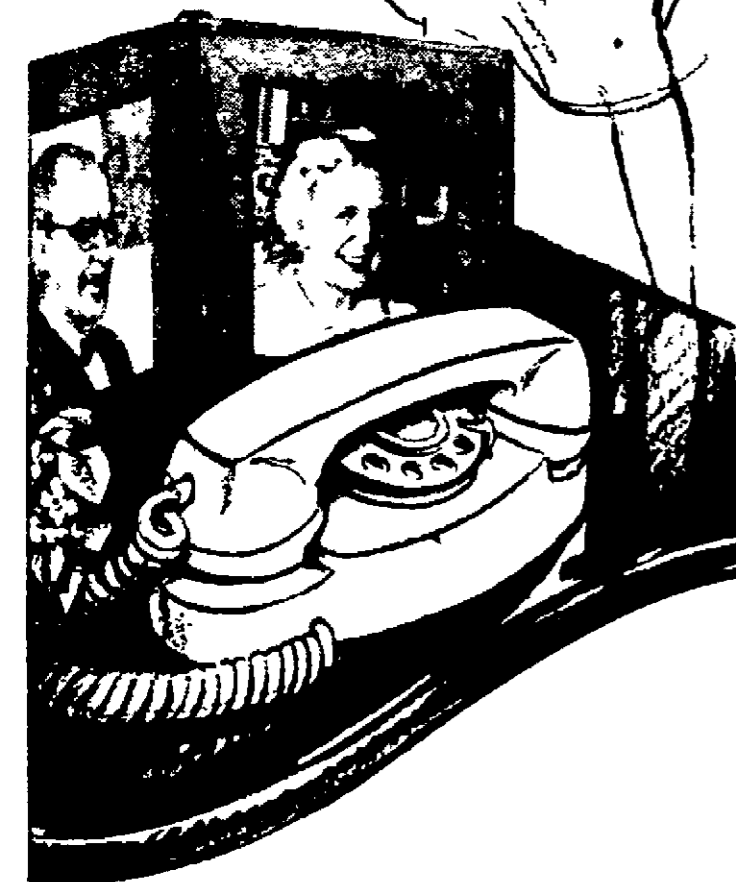

But it's more than ever has been done since the Dominican Republic was read out of the family — without tears or any other signs of lamentation.

To give Castro the boot out of the OAS would amount to serving notice on the Western world that the new hemisphere is prepared to take care of its own problems and there is nothing that the Latins would like to prove better.

To what extent they are willing to do it will await the voting today, Tuesday and possibly Wednesday.

Shainwold Bad Breaks Aren't Fatal

BY ALFRED SHAINWOLD

Hundreds of bridge players all over the world groaned a few weeks ago when they ran into bad breaks during the course of a Bridge Olympic. A few players smiled serenely when they overcame the bad breaks.

The jump to two no trump is not exactly a "book" bid, but it furnishes the best description of South's hand. The length and strength of the diamonds make up for a slight weakness in high cards.

When East puts up the king of clubs at the first trick, South must win. Otherwise, East would shift to the jack of spades.

South's next play separates the groaners from the smilers. If South leads the ace or king of diamonds he will have to give up two diamonds to East. When East wins the first diamond he can knock out the queen of clubs, and the South hand is dead.

Cautious Play
If South is a cautious player he says to himself "What if the diamonds break 4-0?" This is the only break that can give South trouble.

If West has all four diamonds, nothing can be done. If East has all four diamonds, South can make the contract by proper play. At the second trick South must lead the nine (or eight) of diamonds. If both opponents follow suit, South can clear the diamonds by leading out the ace and

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Starring Costumes

The spring fashion drama gives entity that can be worn by itself. Thus a costume offers increased changes, along with its other virtues. Small wonder that it's been started!

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." # Take on a New Look For 1962

As the poet might say, "There is a beautiful new year in the making." To paraphrase, why not resolve to make one's self more beautiful in this new year. Borrow a slogan from the politicians. "It's time for a change."

Have you been putting up your hair in the same old coil just because someone, long ago, advised you? Resolution: A new do in '62.

Been wearing suits, night and day, day - in - day - out because someone once said you were the type? Resolution: More dresses - even dressy dresses. Friends may raise an eyebrow but they'll also raise their opinion of you.

What about perfume? If you, have too long bought or been gilded with the same brand, it's time for a change. Make it subtle. People won't be able to tell exactly what is so new and nice about you but they'll like the change.

Cosmetics, especially coloring, should be changed at regular intervals: with the seasons, night vs. day, travel vs. at home and because the skin itself changes with aging and climate and health factors. Keep a variety of powders, makeup and lipstick shades. Make up to match the date and your mood. You'll soon find yourself looking forward to each refreshing change.

Here is another change of beauty pace. It is especially welcome if the skin has become excessively dry or irritated. Instead of washing with customary soap try a cleanser such as colloidal oatmeal. It can be used in the bath for all over cleansing or mixed with a small amount of water for sudsing the face and hands. An especially beneficial mask for dry skin is made of colloidal oatmeal mixed with good quality witch hazel to form a paste. Apply to the face for about 15 minutes. After rinsing, splash the face with a mild freshener like witch hazel.

You can think of other changes to make yourself more beautiful in '62. Remember, it takes courage to make changes - that is one of the beauties of it!

king as soon as he regains the lead.

As it happens, West shows out of diamonds. East wins with the ten of diamonds and returns a club. South wins and gets to dummy with an ace to lead a diamond through East. South later gets to dummy with the other ace to lead another diamond through East. South makes sure of five diamond tricks and his game contract.

Daily Question

Today's Etiquette BY LOUISE DAVIS

What should I do about my employer calling my by my first name? I don't like it. Has he any right to do that without my permission?

Louise Davis
Answers: An employer, department head, even other employees can do what else you can do but accept his first-name calling without being offended.

Keeping your distance by being formal without being formidable or stuffy may give him the hint to call you Miss or Mrs. Jones. However, if he continues to call you Jane, you can forgive his ignorance for he doesn't know better. It doesn't mean that he is being disrespectful.

PROTOCOL FOR PASTOR
We are entertaining out church pastor and a visiting pastor for dinner at out home. Please tell me which clergyman should be asked to give the blessing and who should ask him to do it?

Louise Davis Answers:
I think that it would be a gracious gesture to ask the visiting clergyman to ask the blessing. I suggest that your husband ask him, although it wouldn't matter if you do.

Capes Lead In Fashion Parades
BY LOUISE HICKMAN
FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The Italian fashion silhouette for spring and summer is one of capes, ruffles and high waists.

This look for the coming seasons emerged out of nine days of fashion showings in Florence and Rome. More than 4,000 designs were shown before the last collection came down the Pitti Palace runway.

Almost every collection had capes, cape collars, cape-like boleros, cape sleeves or cape backs. Almost every house used shirred ruffles, bias ruffles or pleated ruffles to decorate their models.

Almost all waistlines were high, or gave that impression. Some were real empire. Some were optical illusions created by seaming or the placement of buttons, pockets or other trim.

Almost all skirts fell just below the knee, and many were flared. The big exceptions in length again were the Fabiani and Simonetta collections. Last year these houses turned out skirts longer than other Italian designers did. This year Simonetta and Fabiani shortened their skirts to just above mid-calf. But they were still longer than others.

Flared and Narrow
Movement or interest in skirts doubtfully it was due to the influence of Elizabeth Taylor's movie designers. But Galitzine, whose "Cleopatra" now being made show was the most applauded in Rome.

Florence, had her skirt interest move to the front. Flared skirts had softness of motion often augmented by shirring or pleats, accordion or crinkled.

But flare was not everything. Several designers kept to narrow, but not tight, skirts. The leading colors were bright and sunny—yellow, orange, apricot, coral and lime. Dusty shades of pink looked new. Black, white, jade and emerald green also appeared.

Wools, linens and shantung were preferred for daytime, child and Simonetta collections. Last year these houses turned out skirts longer than other Italian designers did. This year Simonetta and Fabiani shortened their skirts to just above mid-calf. But they were still longer than others.

High, stiff hats like ancient Egyptian, Queen Nefertiti wore, turned up in many collections in Florence. So did Egyptian make-up and Egyptian hairdos. Un- doubtedly it was due to the influence of Elizabeth Taylor's movie designers. But Galitzine, whose "Cleopatra" now being made show was the most applauded in Rome.

Teen Marriage Success Depends on Maturity

Are teen-age marriages the big problem we make them, or do we just resent a change in a living pattern we're used to? The right answer is important in guiding young people.

Research shows some teen-age marriages are not problems. One type of girl that enters a teen marriage has matured early, doesn't want advanced education and feels marriage is her primary goal.

For this girl, teen-age marriage may not be a disaster at all. She has realistically decided on what she wants, is emotionally mature and is content with the results.

But not all teen-age girls have this outlook. Research reveals a second kind of teen bride who is emotionally unstable and has poor relationships with her family. She marries young to escape a poor situation at home.

Wish to be Adult
Girls like this, and many men, may marry early to gain status and recognition. Often the teen-age husband feels a job gives him this status as well as marriage. The young wife gets added recognition by having a baby. These things make them feel adult and proud of their place in society.

However, marriage doesn't solve basic emotional problems or automatically make teen-agers adults. For example, studies show many teen-age couples are not independent. They rely on their families for support, for many services and gifts and for advice and help in bringing up their children. They do not assume much responsibility in civic or church affairs.

A conclusion of such research findings is that marriage may be a disaster for some teen-agers. The idea that all teen-age marriages are bad neglects to account for individual differences in people. For some teen-agers it's good; for some it's bad. Adults should concentrate on finding out what's best for each one.

Treat as Individuals
To help prevent the unhappy early marriage, three things can be done. First, adults, especially parents, can learn to understand the need of all teen-agers for status and recognition.

Second, they can give recognition to unmarried teen-agers. If young people can get such satisfaction without marriage they won't be as apt to marry early for this reason.

Third, adults can recognize the importance of dealing with each young person as an individual. The idea that all teen-age marriages are bad neglects to account for individual differences in people. For some teen-agers it's good; for some it's bad. Adults should concentrate on finding out what's best for each one.

Thin Good Paint for Primer Coat

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: After the surface has been prepared (all dust removed, loose and flaking paint scraped off, cracks filled, etc.) what is the best type primer to use for a first coat in painting a house?

A: Use a top quality house paint thinned according to the manufacturer's directions on the label of the can. Some recommend a special primer, others advise thinning their regular paint. Either method is satisfactory.

Q: We have a rather old cedar closet in our guest room. The cedar odor has disappeared. How can the odor be renewed?

A: Expose a new surface of aromatic wood, by sanding down the entire surface of the cedar. The easiest way to do this is with an electric sander. If the cedar is very old, it may be necessary to use a plane before getting down to where the cedar is still aromatic. Or the walls can be sprayed with an aromatic cedar preparation, available at many housewares and hardware dealers (under the simplest, even though periodic repetitions will be needed).

Shingle Nails

Q: Last year I put asbestos shingles over the walls of the kitchen extension on our house. The nails aren't holding; some are beginning to come out. What do you recommend?

A: Replace the nails with ones at least one-half inch longer. Spiral or ringed nails hold better. If you nailed the shingles over an insulating sheathing board, all will eventually pull out, unless nailing strips were used. To have nails hold in insulating sheathing without nailing strips, use self-clinching nails.

Q: My landlord had a sloppy painting job done on the house and several of my windows have paint splatters on them. What is the best way to remove paint from glass?

A: If the paint splatters are thick, take them off with an old razor blade (or a coin). To avoid scratching the glass, hold the blade almost flat against the glass before pushing the edge under the paint. Or wipe the splatters with paint remover, then with turpentine.

Green Water Stains

Q: Our newly built house has copper piping. Green stains are developing from the water on the porcelain surfaces under faucets. How can the stains be removed and what is the cause?

A: The stains are the result of air in the water, causing a slight oxidation of the copper when the water stands for any length of time in the pipe. This will disappear in time.

The stains can be removed by wiping with a half-and-half mixture of household ammonia and water, rinsing afterward with plenty of clear water to flush the pipes thoroughly of any ammonia.

TV Influence Should Be Parent's Concern

Most school-age children spend lead, neither help nor harm. Mr. as much time watching TV sets Minow finds. They are unlikely as they do in the classroom — to contribute to juvenile delinquency or juvenile development.

Yes, says Newton N. Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. He points out that television has become a "fourth force" in our children's lives (along with home, school and church) and its potential to help or to hurt is "enormous."

Is TV good or bad? Mr. Minow personally agrees with a recent study which concluded: "For some children, under some conditions, some television is harmful. For other children under the same conditions, or for the same children under other conditions, it may be beneficial. For most children, under most conditions, most television is probably neither particularly harmful nor particularly beneficial."

Crime and violence on TV are not a direct cause of bad behavior, recent social research finds, though television might give a maladjusted youngster an extra push toward delinquency. "But," Mr. Minow comments, "some friends of the industry, from these limited findings, conclude that crime and violence, brutality and vulgarity have no harmful potential whatsoever. We must be concerned about the attitudes and values the programs communicate and help to inculcate in our children."

And what about the neutral of the TV spectrum where "... most television is probably neither particularly harmful nor particularly beneficial?" These programs — the majority — neither elevate nor debase, neither lead nor mislead.

Mrs. Karel Richmond will be assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Lague and Mrs. H. L. Harding. Alfred Johnson will read singing and Mrs. Maxine Mamerthson will be mistress of ceremonies.

Italian Stylist Impresses Paris With Spring Line

BY PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — French fashion experts dropped all chauvinism to applaud Roberto Capucci, first Italian designer to invade the Paris fashion market.

Capucci produced the most exciting, most youthful and most fresh collection that reporters have seen yet in Paris. Most of it made news and what did not was interesting.

Capucci, it now appears, can be sure of acquiring in Paris the same reputation he has in Rome, provided he gets rid of two characteristics that real Parisians find non-Parisian.

His colors for spring and summer are slightly too crude and his fabrics are slightly too heavy to please the French.

His greens and pinks are more suited to the bright Italian sunshine than to the misty Paris skies. His woollens are too heavy and too elaborate to compete with Parisian light wools and vaporous chiffons.

More Conservative

Femininity and sex appeal, the keynotes of all Paris couturiers, are also Capucci's trademark. He adds the beautiful and subtle designing of an experienced master.

His silhouette is both fluid and cinched, emphasizing feminine forms without over marking them. His busts are high and his waistlines low. If anything, he's more conservative than French rivals with more restrained décolleté and slightly longer skirts.

Coats all are belted or cinched at waistlines and are collarless or with standaway collars. Tailored suits have little jackets ending just above the waistline and buttoned, or simply attached by knots of ribbon, at the neckline.

Some jackets are lined with same material used for the blouse a la Chanel.

For daywear Capucci obviously prefers white to any other color but he also has lovely beiges and grays. One dress is made of two wide beige panels falling from the shoulders, one in front and one in back. They open on a rose skirt.

Many skirts are pleated for easy movement and worn with elongated blouses, often of sequins or very elaborate material.

Busts are long and waistlines slightly below the usual place.

For late afternoon, dresses are sleeveless and adorned with an enormous removable ruffle stole that rounds the shoulders. Many dresses have two long pleated panels, one in front and one in back, starting at the décolleté.

Three Evening Styles

Capucci uses practically no fur, and his small capes and ruffles all are made of the same material as the dress they accent.

Evening dresses are fabulous. He has three styles.

One is a long sheath in silk or moire beautifully cut to shape a woman's body without ever exaggerating. It is close to ankle length.

The second is a flaring dress with crinolines. Unlike his rivals, Capucci goes in heavily for becoming flares for evening wear.

The third is a ballerina dress, short and vaporous, dropping to the middle of the calf.

Unfortunately Capucci's hats don't equal the beauty of his clothes. Most look like upturned jars. Others are so eccentric they're laughable. One looked like an enormous bat. Another was made of a single branch of foliage stuck in a tower of chiffon.

Q. What do I look for in order to buy a healthy puppy for my children? Mrs. Mary Lou Finner, St. Louis, Mo.

A. Whether pedigreed or just plain mutt, no puppy is worth bringing home unless it is healthy. It should be lively and cheerful with its tail in the air. The liveliest, most aggressive puppy is healthiest. Eyes should be bright, coat slick and shiny and gums pink. If there is discharge from the eye or matted hair under the tail, he is not for you. Whether male or female, feel the tummy for ruptures. Observe a puppy at play at least 10 minutes to see if he coughs, sneezes or does anything unusual. If in doubt, consult your veterinarian before making the purchase. Don't buy a puppy because you feel sorry for him. You will be sorrier in the long run.

Furniture Buying

Which is better—to buy all new furniture for a room—or to keep some old pieces for the sake of buying better quality in fewer new pieces?

This question may be none too easy to answer when furniture in the room is worn and tiresome and the budget permits tossing it all out if replacement price tags are low. But stop to think why the old pieces are so unwanted—if it's because they fell short of what they should have been in the first place, why repeat a mistake? New furniture with the same faults will arrive at the same point all too soon. Newness throughout the room, after all, is only temporary, and is too dearly paid for if the furniture is unsatisfactory when the newness wears off. Quality, on the other hand, has a way of shining through long wear and day-after-day familiarity. Fine pieces of furniture that reach out in the store with real that's-for-me appeal are worth postponing other purchases for, because long-term living with them brings so much satisfaction.

Mrs. I. S.: "We're considering moving to a larger apartment, one which has rough textured plaster walls—too rough textured to suit me. Some of the raised parts of the plaster have chipped off badly, but the landlord says repairs can be made only to fill in the green. A gray and white all-over chipped places, not to make the pattern would be effective if you walls smooth. Do you know a way to smooth the plaster, or would cessories.

you recommend some sort of plastic wall covering to go over it?"

A surface with raised parts high enough to chip off badly can neither be filled in to smoothness nor covered successfully with a plastic wall covering. Since stripping the plaster off the walls completely and starting over is the only way to change the surface greatly, the expense involved is considerable. Repainting will be necessary if chips in raised areas are filled and built up.

Mrs. L. G.: "Should I paint my kitchen walls or use wallpaper as a change from a brick patterned paper in gray with green and light rose? My new tiled floor is white with gray, black, silver and gold spatters. Natural birch cabinets have gray counter tops and the woodwork is white. Please also suggest wall color or colors."

Either paint or paper could be used, but papering is more advantageous for two reasons. It avoids the wall preparation that's necessary when paint goes over paper, and provides the opportunity to use colorful pattern, which both spices the scheme and helps to unify it by repeating more than one existing color. Pattern on a white background might well include some gray, but the other colors might be yellow with lime yellow and orange, fresh pinks or shades of blue with or without the green. A gray and white all-over use bright accent colors in accessories.

Last Fashion Word Waits On Saint-Laurent Show

BY GABRIELLE SMITH

PARIS (AP) — The feminine form did its utmost to emerge from the sack last week, as most major Paris fashion houses revealed their spring and summer styles. An attempt was made to give woman back her waist and her bosom, with one important exception—at the House of Dior. The key to the figure may not be fully evident until next week, when 25-year-old Yves Saint-Laurent opens his new fashion house.

Biggest waist champion was designer Jules Crahay of Nina Ricci, who squeezed it in three-inch-wide, tight leather belts. Marc Bohan of Dior flew in the face of the trend by placing his belts on the hipbone but most other houses left waists hovering around the middle, with some suggestion of the Empire Line.

Bosoms were outlined small and high by Desses and Venet, but flattened by Capucci, Cardin and Dior's daytime clothes.

But at night low décolletés plunge to the waist, often daringly revealing on the sides.

Hemlines have not been revolutionized. Some are just below the knee, others extra short, revealing part of the knee cap when the woman walks. The key word is still "short."

There was lots of skirt news. The general trend was wide, allowing women to walk from the hip down instead of the knee down.

Back to the 20s

Widest were Ricci's bias cuts. Lanvin Castillo showed a skirt with a back wider than the front. Dior just plain squared the skirt with well stitching at the four sides.

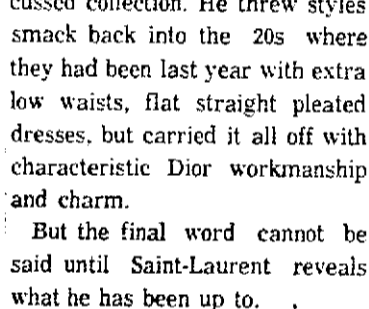

Suit jackets tended to be short and closer to the body, molding but not hugging it. There was a curved line for backs, sometimes faint as at Cardin, at others exaggerated in ducktail cape shade as at Lanvin Castillo.

No matter what concessions designers made to a woman's shape, they all feminized her.

Just as everyone was thinking the line was changing this spring,

Let's Play Predictions, Keeping In Mind Some Real Past Bobbles

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If you are so smart, please predict what our future holds for us in, say 25 years. It may be presumed that you have the basis for an informed guess, and also that you are equipped with the necessary ingredient of imagination.

I do not issue this call for soothsayers or practitioners of hocus-pocus. I seek only the informed guess: the projection of a sound thought for the tomorrow which lies 25 years ahead.

It is not easy to predict thus, and the evidence that it is not is copious. Men of ingenuity and stature have made predictions in the past. Most were incorrect.

For example, the editors of the once-profound Literary Digest made this statement in 1899: "The ordinary horseless carriage is at present a luxury for the wealthy; and altho its price will probably fall in the future, it will never, of course, come into as common use as the bicycle."

The prediction was wrong, indeed. In that year, one American in every 70 purchased a bicycle. Twenty-two years later, only one American in every 331 bought a bicycle. And the number of automobiles under registration in 1965 was a whopping 77,000,000.

Another guess was made by editors of The Cosmopolitan magazine in 1902 who wrote with kind conviction that "it may be laid down as a fact that the invention of a gasoline machine requires the employment of an expert of high intelligence and thorough training."

Some Small Disparity

Though both statements need no rebuttal, it may be said for the latter one that 25 years after the observation was made, more than 17 million people were driving gasoline automobiles.

To the former guess, we observe that in 1899, one American in every 70 had purchased a bicycle. In just 20 years, (1921), only one American in every 331 had purchased one.

Our point today, however, is not to attempt to protest the guesses of those bold fellows, but to show that people of eminence were making very poor guesses.

One prophet in the Eclectic Magazine in 1905 was astonishing. In 10 years he said, "we may see the country dotted with (pleasant) vehicles flying along on roads that... nations might be proud of. As traffic becomes gentler, (costs) will diminish. Heads will no longer throb with disagreeable sights and sounds. The busy man will be able to think as he drifts along on wheels of softest motion; not agitated by thoughts of the wretched horse! in front, nor distracted by noise around him. Modern life will have lost a few of its worst, horrors."

Orville, That Go

But such a man as Simon Newcomb, head of the Nautical Almanac Office of the U.S. Naval Observatory did not believe that man could fly successfully. In October, of 1903, only two months before the Wright brothers made their first successful flight in an aircraft, Newcomb said this:

"The example of the bird does not prove that man can fly... May not our (mechanics) be ultimately forced to admit that aerial flight is one of that great class of problems with which man can never cope, and give up all attempts to grapple with it?"

"Imagine the proud possessor of the aeroplane driving through the air at a speed of several hundred feet per second!... How is he ever going to stop?"

"The construction of an aerial vehicle which would carry even a single man from place to place requires the discovery of some new metal or new force. Even with such a discovery we could not expect one to do more than carry its owner."

What Kind of Glasses?

From today's point of view it seems that Mr. Newcomb may have been myopic but perhaps he was being only reasonable.

Thomas Edison, a pretty good predictor, discussed the automobile in 1903, and this is what he said:

"Next year I will wager that I can take a car of my own design, fitted with my motor and battery, and go to Chicago (from New York) and return in less time and with more pleasure than with any other machine in existence. There will be no breakdown, no explosion of gas or gasoline, and the trip will be made at an even 25 miles an hour."

Edison didn't manage to do this, but his predicting sense fitted him well that day.

Clear Days on Street

John Jacob Astor, one of the wealthiest men in America at the time, said this in 1903: "The automobile... is preparing the light and powerful engine that will soon propel the flying machine... war will become so destructive that it will probably bring its own end. Street pavements will, of course, be smooth and easily cleaned — asphalt, bituminous macadam, or sheet steel; and keeping horses in large cities will doubtless be prohibited by the board of health, as stabling pigs, cows or sheep is now.

"Second-story sidewalks, composed largely of translucent glass, leaving all the present street level to vehicles, are already badly needed... and will doubtless have made their appearance in less than 20 years."

The great H. G. Wells predicted that the automobile "will be capable of a day's journey of 300 miles or more" but he did not have much hope in aircraft or submarines. Of the plane, he said: "I do not think it at all probable that aeronautics will ever come into play as a serious modification of transport and communication." And of the submarine: "I must confess that my imagination, in spite even of spurring, refuses to see any sort of submarine doing anything but submerge its crew, and founder at sea."

So there you have some notable, if not accurate, predictors of another and earlier day. How do you predict for the year 1987?

Company Paper Published by Appleton Coated

Present and retired employees of the Appleton Coated Paper Co. received the first issue of the APCO News by mail last week. The four-page illustrated publication will be printed every other week. Frank Sanders Jr. will edit the newspaper.

Contents of the first issue range from federal and state tax information affecting tax returns of company employees to a description of the most recent lost-time accident in the mill. There also is a report on a visit from the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and a noise survey made to improve working conditions in the mill.

Holy Name Society To Sponsor Social

GREENVILLE—The Holy Name Men of St. Mary parish, Greenville, and St. Patrick parish, Stephensville, will sponsor a social for the choir members and parish officers.

HINTS FROM Heloise Care of Man-Made Fabrics

Dear Laundresses:

And that is exactly what we are! Besides all the other things! Today we are going to talk about nylons.

Nylons are a man-made fabric. Man-made fabrics have no "pores" because they come from a machine. These fabrics are quite different from "nature-made" fabrics.

Nylon, when washed with other colors, WILL absorb the color from whatever you are washing! Home economists tell me this: I know it is so. . . but . . . I can't tell you why or how!

All I know is that if you put a white nylon blouse or shirt in the wash with anything colored, it will pick up the color of whatever you are washing with it!

If any garment has a tag on it that says, "contains part-nylon," then be careful about washing it with bath towels, housedresses or anything colored.

White nylon should always be washed with other white things . . . or alone.

Dear Heloise:

My plaster walls get mildew on them. I have found that I can use one part vinegar and two parts water in a mixture and rub the walls down with a sponge or old bath towels.

This will last for a while but a few months later the mildew comes back. Does anyone have a better method?

Mildew

Anyone know? Write to Heloise, care of this paper.

Dear Heloise:

I have just moved into a new home. Instead of letting the wall behind the stove get grease spots I bought a plastic window shade

CORRIDOR CHATTER

BY FERN SMITH

News gathers this week include a boy and girl from Jefferson School, Menasha, and a feature writer from Neenah Junior High School.

Meet Roberta Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roberts, 417 10th Street, Neenah. This young lady writes for the Comet, is a member of the string orchestra, and was vice president of the Student Council last year.

"This is the third year of publishing The Comet which is a monthly school paper. Our editors are Janyce Bloch and Donna Schmidt with Jim Schultz as assistant editor. The staff is divided into 12 committees, each with its own chairman. Linda Buchanan is roving reporter; Sue Bylow, boy and girl of the month, 8th grade, Janey Burr; boy and girl of the month, 7th grade, Sue Wegener; gossip, Dennis Stanke; sports, Bernie Peterson; clubs, Jill Owens; mystery teacher, Gretchen Traas; production, Jim Schultz; circulation, Margie Bland; art, Joyce Clark; and special features, Roberta Roberts. Miss Eugenia Kiryakakis is advisor. The first semester the staff was open only to the eighth graders and this second semester the seventh graders may join."—Roberta Roberts.

At Neenah Junior High, try-outs are being held for the Talent Show coming up Feb. 14.

The Wisconsin Club is also called Paperland Patriots. Its purpose is to find out more about our state. President is Donna Blotzinger and the secretary is Alan Ross. This club is limited to seventh graders.

At St. Mary's High School, plans are being made this week for the Sodality's trip to Milwaukee on Saturday for the Catholic Action convention. More than 13,000 high school students from throughout Wisconsin and 15 mid-western states are expected to attend the 16th annual convention at the Milwaukee Auditorium and Arena. So far one bus load will be leaving from St. Mary's.

Roseanne Waters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Waters, 821 Third Street, Menasha, grade six at Jefferson School. Roseanne's special interests are writing, sewing, swimming, reading and singing in the school chorus.

"Rocks are the topic in the Jefferson fifth grade at present. They have a large display of interesting specimens which are being used in their study of the earth's formation. The Dana system which is favored by scientists for classifying rocks will be taught to the pupils."—Roseanne Waters.

Funerals

CRAIG — Funeral services for Mrs. Harold L. Craig, 546 1/2 Broad St., Menasha, were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Kessler Funeral Home, with the Rev. A. W. Tiel, pastor of Bethel Evangelical Lutheran church, officiating. Pallbearers were Herbert McBride, Ralph Drexler, William E. Krueger, Warren Krueger, Peter Steffens and Joseph J. Monaghan. Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery.

COOK — Funeral services for Albert J. Cook, 154 E. North Water St., Neenah, were held at 9:30 a.m. today from the Kessler Funeral Home and at 10 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The Rev. Joseph J. Ahearn, pastor, officiated. Pallbearers were Pat Curran, Jerome Endres, Alvin Patzel, Ray Neumeier, Ivan Stilp and Arthur Niles. Interment was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Appleton.

Dear Heloise:

I cannot see that putting clothes which have been sprinkled in a deep freeze could possibly hurt them. I do it.

Past generations, including me, have washed our clothes and hung them on the clothes line in freezing weather where they froze stiff as boards. This never did them any harm. Why is this any different than putting them in the freezer?

Maltese Cross, Symbol of Philanthropic Work Done by Circles of King's Daughters

BY MARION DREW
TCNR Staff Writer

NEENAH — The International Order of King's Daughters and Sons is a non-denominational organization founded in New York City in 1886 by Mrs. Margaret Bottoms. She was inspired with the idea of a society which could wear a badge indicating that they were available and willing to be of service to others. For their badge they selected the little silver Maltese cross and the watchword "In His Name."

As early as 1896 circles of boys had been formed and given the name of Royal Guards. The following year men began seeking admission to the society which became known as the King's Daughters and Sons.

In 1937 the order became international, with circles formed in Canada and England. Today there is no large country which does not have one or more circles, except Soviet Russia. Thousands of circles are pursuing philanthropic activities in the United States, Canada and 47 countries. The first constitution of the order, adopted in 1887, placed the management of the order in the central council and provided for state secretaries and state chapters. In October 1938 the first issue of the Silver Cross magazine was published and a headquarters building occupied in New York.

Junior Circles

As early as 1900, junior circles were formed under the supervision of senior circles, their primary purpose being to prepare young boys and girls to take up the work as older members pass on.

The first circle in Wisconsin was organized by Mrs. George C. Cole of Sheboygan in 1887. In May 1923, Mrs. George Gilbert and Mrs. James Bergstrom of Neenah, invited 100 women to lunch at Riverview Country Club, Appleton, to meet Mrs. Peter Reiss of Sheboygan, who gave a talk on the order. Mrs. Reiss was a national council member and state officer of the King's Daughters and was dedicated to founding chapters in Wisconsin.

Two circles were organized at the time by Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Bergstrom, the Infant Welfare Circle, Appleton, and Service Circle, Neenah. Today there are six adult circles and one junior circle in Appleton, and two adult circles and one junior circle in Neenah. Each circle operates independently of the others.

Service Circle's chief project is the monthly parties for teenagers at Winnebago State Hospital, given from September through May. Five members of the circle manage the parties, which are attended by as many as 65 teenagers. Dancing, games and refreshments are provided.

Contributions

Service Circle contributes to the state endowment fund for the home for aged women at Sheboygan; the Christmas giving committee, to which they give both time and money; scholarships for needy boys and girls, provided by a remittance fund; it has provided ambulances and swings at Sunnyview Children's Preventionism; scholarships at Neenah and Menasha High Schools; automobiles for each high school; an organ fund; television sets; infant incubator, medicine carts and $200 to the building fund for Tieda Clark Memorial Hospital. It has provided television sets for the county hospital and county home and contributes funds regularly to Neenah - Menasha Association for Retarded Children, as well as in a growing fund to establish a sheltered workshop. It formerly provided home-computer courses for housewives who were ill or in the hospital, but because of a lack of available women the circle has been forced to discontinue this project. Many of the services and contributions are given to private families as the need arises and are not publicized.

Service Circle raises its money with its Turnover Shop, open each Tuesday morning, staffed by its members; the yearly benefit dance; sale of articles made by its sewing circles; the Good Neighbor Tour once a year; and a yearly sale at Otter's Shop.

Membership is limited to 25 active members who are required to give 15 hours of service every two years. Present officers are Mrs. Frank Ross, president; Mrs. Victor Zeuthen, first vice president; Mrs. Thad Frys, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Bergstrom, secretary; and Mrs. Walter Thoen, treasurer. Founded in 1919.

Welfare Circle was organized in October 1919 and is limited to 25 members. It is not a money-making group, but because of the activities of Welfare Circle no member of the Twin Cities need buy cancer insurance. The circle meets once a month at the VNA House to make dressings of required sizes, which are distributed by the VNA nurses or may be picked up by a member of the family at the request of VNA House. Care for the dressings is contributed by Kimberly - Clark Co., the making of the goods is done by the members, a donation of American Can Co., and the goods are contributed by American Cancer Society. As an example, 1970 dressings were donated to the American Cancer Society in November, 1970.

Welfare Circle works with the Welfare Circle, which provides transportation for its members to and from meetings and other activities. The circle also provides a special phone for them each morning.

Home Remodeling Sound Investment For Any Family

BY CARROLL K. O'ROURKE
Chairman, National Home Improvement Council

Home remodeling in the past few years has become one of the most active segments of the American economy — and with good reason. Homeowners everywhere are finding that the improvement and modernization of their homes is one of the soundest and most sensible investments that any family can make.

Unlike other so-called consumer purchases, a remodeling project is not likely to be used up or worn out as time passes. Rather, a well-planned project, using quality materials and expert workmanship, usually increases the value of a home by more than the cost of the project.

Market Value

The homeowner who renews his housing investment through periodic remodeling projects and continuing maintenance will find that his home's market value is substantially above the amount of his investment.

As the demand for home improvement services has increased, the skills and products of industry have expanded, too. Through the efforts of the National Home Improvement Council and other industry organizations, it is far safer and more convenient today to purchase modernization products and services than it has ever been before.

Thousands of contractors and dealers have been trained in the procedures that permit them to carry out remodeling projects with professional skill, efficiency and reliability.

Investigate First

Even so, it's a good idea to "investigate before you invest."

There are still some unscrupulous operators whose only objective is to defraud unwary homeowners, giving them inferior materials and services at drastically inflated prices.

Follow these basic rules: Make sure your home remodeling contractor or dealer is an established local businessman, with a place of business that you can visit for first-hand observation.

Ask if he belongs to the Home Improvement Council, the Better Business Bureau and other organizations dedicated to maintaining high business standards.

References

Ask to see a list of customers the firm has previously served, then check with some of those references.

Make sure you don't sign anything that you don't clearly understand.

By observing these simple precautions, you can be sure that you will be getting the most out of remodeling — your best investment and a wonderful family adventure.

Arrangement Of Kitchen Saves Steps

The general arrangement in the kitchen of the new bride can save her many unnecessary miles each year. Efficiency in the kitchen also depends on the homemaker's ability to organize and use the available space.

Keep food and equipment at the place of first use. Keep food and equipment used in the same food process together and keep duplicates of food and equipment if used at two or more centers.

The test of having your kitchen organized according to experts is whether you can walk into your kitchen and begin preparing one food, reaching everything necessary for the preparation without taking more than five or six steps.

Some things just naturally go together, so keep them together. A fork or a turner is used with a skillet, a stirring or tasting spoon with a saucepan. Keep them together and keep them at the range where you will be using them.

Relocating items belonging in other parts of the house and those used only occasionally in food preparation helps give more room for the work you carry on every day. If you are short on cupboard space and there's no chance for building more, temporary racks and shelves are available that can be attached to the wall or a cupboard door. Peg boards provide handy storage in an area where there isn't a cupboard.

Cost of Living May Jump More Than Tax Indicates

Price Boosts On Many Items Seem Certain

Fox Cities area residents may find the cost-of-living going up Thursday a bit more than the new Wisconsin selective sales tax would indicate.

The 10-cent beer may become a thing of the past. At least one Appleton tavern is planning to increase the amount of beer in the glass and will hike the price from 10 to 15 cents.

The sales tax apparently is destined to become something of a goat in the pricing system. One Fox Cities bowling alley has been announcing the price will go up 5 cents a line "because of the sales tax." Every bowler knows, of course, that that means 15 cents more for the usual three lines, and the tax on that purchase actually should be only four cents.

Raise The Price

Several taverns have indicated they will raise the price of mixed drinks a nickel, too.

In many cases, the action probably would have come sooner or later anyway, because the merchants have been feeling a profit pinch and cannot absorb the extra squeeze the tax puts on them without raising the price.

How widespread the pricing change will be still is not clear. It is expected that in most cases cigarettes will sell for 35 cents a pack in machines. Most brands now cost 30 cents. A vending machine operator said in small communities the machine sales may go to 32 or 33 cents, with the change packaged with the product.

Broad Increases

Some restaurants plan rather broad, if modest, price increases on most items. They will be accountable for gross sales and handle a lot of 10 cent and 15 cent items. One Fox Cities restaurant said some operators plan to raise prices on "prominent" items, but leave slow moving items the same. Others will add to the tax to every check.

Many restaurant operators plan to attend a meeting in Green Bay tonight to hear state tax men discuss how the sales tax affects them.

The coming tax has provided a mild sales boom in some types of business, such as furniture. Apparently people who intended to buy soon have stepped up the purchase time in order to avoid the 3 percent tax.

"It's been fantastic," one furniture store owner said. "Big items are moving especially well: items such as living room sets, big chairs and dinette sets. At least people say it's the sales tax. When they come in they say they want to beat it."

Other furniture sellers say, "It must be the tax. More people than usual for this time of year have been in the store to buy."

Automobile dealers also have noted a push in sales from people trying to buy before the tax goes into effect Thursday. One Fox Cities dealer attributed the sale of several new cars and several higher-priced used ones to the beat-the-tax campaign. He expects that the rush will taper off now, but the weekend was busy.

In car sales, of course, the tax becomes quite an item.

On a $3,000 net expenditure for instance, the tax amounts to $90. Those who buy major appliances and furniture sooner than expected can save much less, but the figure can run to $9 or $15 on such things as living room suites.

AHS to Give 'Evening With Curtain Call'

Appleton High School students will present an "Evening with Curtain Call," an overall view of the school's speech program at 8 p.m. Feb. 1. The program will include samples of the various types of speech activities offered at AHS.

"Aria da Capo," a one-act play by Edna St. Vincent Millay, will open the program. Richard Richardson is the director.

The cast of this whimsical farce, which includes a play within a play, are Murray Spector, Judi Jones, Dwayne Jurgensen, Peter John and Vance Kasten.

Neil Stullings and Charles Dostal will give a mock debate on federal aid to education, showing only the major clashes of the debate. Edward Flynn is the debate coach.

Richard Cresswell will give his interpretative reading of "Grant at Appomattox" by James Thurber. He won the humorous oral interpretation contest earlier this year with this reading.

The program will conclude with a play reading of Norman Corwin's "The Undecided Molecule" by Miss Gretchen Solie and Jack Burroughs are the directors.

The cast includes James Ragus, Richard Dixon, Bruce Chudacoff, Peter Kloehe, Gerrie Ormstein, Kathy Koller, Noel Furstenberg, and Lynn Le Duc.

Members of Appleton's Combat Support Company charge out of an armored personnel carrier during an amphibious landing exercise on Puget Sound near North Fort Lewis, Wash. The training exercise was a joint effort of the Appleton company and the 560 Engineer Amphibious Equipment Company.

32nd Division Training

Appleton Men Practice Amphibious Landings

FORT LEWIS, Wash. — Thursday with the 32nd Division at Fort Lewis last week's training was a new experience, Sgt. Day said.

Company training officer Lt. Richard Haviland explained, "We familiarized ourselves with the army landing forces' amphibious operation. This type of training was entirely different to most of the men."

The amphibious landing was a joint effort of the Appleton company, commanded by Capt. George Meyers, and the 560 Engineer Amphibious Equipment Co., commanded by Lt. John H. Alden.

The men were transported by the landing craft to Puget Sound. "We didn't know if we were on land or in the water," remarked PFC Kenneth Heid.

After reaching the sound, the crafts plunged into the water and went through a number of maneuvers before landing on the beach. "It seemed like we were really moving, but we were only traveling about six knots," said Specialist 4, Gary Versteegen.

Like the Dells

Traveling through the water, Sp. 4 Robert Millard remarked, "The area looked like the Wisconsin Dells."

The company also spent a day at McChord Air Force Base for training in boarding and unloading the huge C-124 cargo planes.

Seymour Home Entered Second Time This Month

Robert Frasier was not in the habit of locking his doors, he holds police.

Frasier told Seymour police that about two weeks ago someone took a piggy bank containing $25 in currency plus change from a television set in his home on State 55 near Seymour.

Saturday he told Seymour police a television set worth $25 was taken from his home.

The case has been turned over to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department.

Potential Tragedy Averted by Action of Appleton Firemen

A potential tragedy involving two Appleton families was averted Saturday night when Appleton firemen discovered a clogged chimney had caused smoke and fumes to back up into a house.

Oxygen was administered to Mrs. Robert Coffin, 23, after she was overcome by the fumes, and eight other people, four of them children, were ill after inhaling the fumes.

Firemen were called to the Melvin T. Forbes home, 1325 N. Oneida St., Saturday night after Forbes said he could smell smoke in the home.

Forbes' wife, mother-in-law and four children and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coffin, occupants of a second floor apartment, left the house after firemen discovered a chimney screen had clogged with soot and snow and was causing smoke and poisonous fumes to back up into the house.

An Appleton doctor called to the scene advised the two families to evacuate the house for the night to allow it to air out.

Fire Capt. Frances I. Schultes said the fumes caused headaches and nausea and in some cases induced sleep.

State Publishes Plant Directory

MADISON (AP) — Publication of a directory of Wisconsin plants and other buildings suitable for manufacturing or warehouse operations was announced by the Department of Resource Development today.

Department director David Carley said the booklet would be advertised and distributed nationally as part of the agency's industrial development program.

Sizes of facilities range from 512 square feet in Wild Rose to a group of West Allis buildings with 500,000 square feet of space.

The booklet also contains a map of the interstate highway system in Wisconsin, showing completed sections, parts under construction and proposed routes.

Apparently No Plane Crashed, So Search Ends in Vilas County

ENGLE RIVER (AP) — Authorities who launched a ground and air search after a twin-engine plane was reported flying low and apparently in trouble, said Sunday they were satisfied the aircraft did not crash.

A farmer living in the Lac du Flambeau area near the Vilas-Flambeau County line told Saturday of seeing the plane at tree top level and with both engines inoperative.

Six squads of deputies and two planes searched the area but found nothing.

New Pastor Makes Home In Appleton

The Rev. Byron P. Epps, 1419 Silvercrest Drive, will take over ministerial duties at the Valley Baptist Chapel, 406 W. Wisconsin Ave.

Pastor Epps is a newcomer in Appleton. He arrived Jan. 17 from Weatherford, Tex., where he was pastor of the Eureka Baptist Church. He is a native of Batesville, Miss.

The Rev. Mr. Epps is a graduate of Union University in Jacksonville, Fla.

Rev. Byron R. Epps

son Tenn. and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Tex.

Pastor Epps' wife is from Nio-ta Tenn. She is a registered nurse at Appleton Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Epps is also a graduate of Union University.

New Service Time

The Valley Baptist Chapel is affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention and is sponsored by the Island Crest Baptist Church, Green Bay.

Pastor Epps expects the chapel to be constituted as a church in the near future. When the chapel is constituted, plans for a new building will get underway.

Beginning in February the chapel will hold services at a new time. Sunday school will be at 9:30 a.m. worship service at 10:45 a.m. and the Baptist Training Union will meet at 6:15 p.m. There will be a 7 p.m. prayer service each Wednesday.

300 Dairymen to Meet at Waupaca

Annual District 7 Convention to Include Committeemen Election

WAUPACA — About 300 dairy farmers from seven counties will gather Thursday morning at the Waupaca Armory for the annual meeting of District 7, American Dairy Association.

The session will open at 10:30 a.m. and conclude about 3 p.m. Jane Comings, ADA home economist, will conduct a special feature for women during the morning session. The men and women will take part jointly during the afternoon.

Election of two committeemen

3 Architects Win $5,000 Design Award

Three Appleton architects have won a $5,000 preliminary award and been named among eight finalists in nationwide competition to design a $20 million government center and city hall in Boston.

The three who are associated in the project are James B. Zwack, 1513 E. Gunn St.; Lloyd Gadau, 744 W. Prospect Ave., and William Rueter, 907 Fair St. They are with George Narovec and Associates.

The competition is being sponsored by the Government Center Commission of Boston. More than 500 architects originally registered for the competition.

The second stage of the competition will include further development of the preliminary design and preparation of a model and floor plans. The competition is to be completed in May, with the winner receiving the commission for the building.

Substitute Food

A picture presentation, showing the various substitute foods are making in the dairy product industry and a review of the dairyman's sales promotion plans for 1962 will be given.

Nominated for committeemen are Albert Frei, Arden Henslin, both of Markesan, Ervin Stern, New London, and John Schaefer, Neenah.

Nominated as delegates are Arthur Schuelke, Manawa; Kenneth James, Berlin; Henry Janke, Clintonville; Donald Sprain, Westfield; Wilbur Fox, Markesan; Merle Bacon, Hancock; Louis Jensen, Oshkosh; Harvey Ebert, Westfield; Hugh Gear, Menasha; Elmer Wagner, Weyauwega; Joe Springer, Iola, and Ralph Banke, Junction City.

The Trinity Lutheran Church women will serve the noon meal. Mrs. Carl Anderson, president, is in charge of the arrangements.

The district includes Waupaca, Waushara, Adams, Marquette, Green Lake, Portage and Winnebago counties.

Lawrence College Gets $1,500 Grant

The Shell Companies Foundation, Inc. announced that Lawrence College would receive a $1,500 grant for faculty development in the field of chemistry, mathematics and physics.

The grant is part of a total of $1,121,000 given by the foundation to 167 colleges and universities. The program is designed to strengthen high school science and mathematics teaching.

UCS to Elect 12 of Board, New Officers

Visual Annual Report Also Scheduled for Annual Meeting

A visual annual report on how the United Community Services helps the community provide health, welfare and recreation services will be presented at the UCS annual meeting, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Alex's Supper Club.

"Our UCS—Everybody's Business" is the title of the annual report to be presented by Marvin Heiden, UCS vice president. The report was prepared by Miss Alice Huck and members of the UCS public information department.

UCS board of directors to be elected include twelve for three-year terms, two for two years and two for one year. New officers will be elected by the new board of directors.

Members of the UCS board of directors whose terms expire are F. H. Orison, Frans G. Larson, Harold C. Adams, Bruce B. Pudy, Stuart H. Koch, Mrs. Harold Ormstein, Joseph Sensenbrenner, Mrs. Donald Morrissey, Melvyn Hemmen, John S. Wells, C. A. Pertain and Mrs. Eugene L. Pierce.

The officers during 1961 have been Donald C. Bradley, president; Harley O. Barney, first vice president; Marvin Heiden, second vice president; and Frans G. Larson, treasurer. A Rowland Todd is executive director.

Car Damaged by Fire

MENASHA — The engine compartment of a car owned by William Cartwright, New London, was extensively damaged by fire at 5:15 p.m. Saturday. Firemen said they believe a backfire through the carburetor caused the blaze. Cartwright's car was in the 300 block of Broad Street.

Juniors Taking Special Series Of Tests Today

Appleton High School juniors are taking the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress today. It is a free day for all other public school students, with an in-service training program scheduled for teachers. The second semester begins Tuesday.

The juniors took social studies and English tests from 8 to 11:15 a.m., and science and mathematics exams from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

The STEP tests are a series of achievement tests recently made a requirement for seventh, eighth, ninth and 11th grade students in the Appleton school system. The purpose of the tests is to reveal ability to solve problems rather than ability only to handle "lesson material." The tests measure how well a student is able to use what he has learned rather than how much he remembers.

The tests grew out of the demands of educators for tests that would measure the broad outlines of general education, not the relatively narrow results of any specific subject matter course.

Appleton Engineer at Fallout Shelter Course

Thomas E. Orison, 1530 W. George St., has attended a fallout shelter analysis course at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He is with Orison and Orison Inc., consulting engineers.

The two-week course was under the direction of the department of defense.

Jennifer Reinke, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reinke, Forest Junction, was killed Sunday in a head-on auto collision on States 57 near Forest Junction. The car driven by her father, top, collided with one driven by John Woltjen, 36, St. Louis, Mo., bottom. Ten other persons were injured in the accident. Police said both drivers apparently were blinded by swirling snow thrown up by a snow plow. Story on P-1.

Engineering Surveys Are being made in preparation for Appleton's parking ramp construction program. Nelson Greeley of the Appleton engineering department is working at the two city lots bounded by Franklin, Morrison and Washington streets. That is the site proposed for a 465-car $630,000 ramp. The other ramp would be a deck over the lot at the southwest corner of Washington and Division streets, for 100 cars and costing $300,000.

$20,460 in Taxes Collected At Hortonville

Funds Distributed To Schools, Village General Account

HORTONVILLE — Treasurer Paul Kreul has collected $20,460 in taxes. Of the amount, $20,000 will be transferred to the general fund, $7,500 advanced to Joint School District No. 1 and $7,500 to Hortonville Union High School.

The engineering firm of Foth and Dorath, Green Bay, was paid $2,700 for work done in the village.

Additional land needed for a public park and wayside along U.S. 45, requested by the county, was purchased with the village contributing $500 and 250 each donated by the Commercial Club and the fire department.

School zone signs on Main Street for the Lutheran school will be installed on the south side of the street, east of Wismer driveway and in front of the laundry on the north side of the street.

Reno Klein, street commissioner, and his staff were commended by the village board for installing storm sewer on Cedar and Pine streets at a cost of $3,631, a savings of $1,050 over the estimated cost.

Mick Burke, editor of Town and Country News, asked the board to declare Town and Country News as the official paper in the village. The matter was discussed. A decision will be made at a later date.

No parking at any time between signs will be placed on each side of the post office driveway to eliminate parking in a driveway used by the mail trucks.

The village dump has been used by a party pumping cesspools. The board agreed a sign should be painted giving the day the dump is open for Village of Hortonville residents only.

The sign will be put at the entrance gate. Reno Klein will acquire a man to attend the dump Saturdays for $1.35 an hour.

A building permit was issued for Peter Wied for a home on N. Oak Street.

Sophomores First in Waupaca Skate Event

Larry Doyle Takes Top Spot in Every Heat; Teammate John Woody Wins Second

WAUPACA — Led by Larry Doyle who took first in each event, the sophomores won the Waupaca High School interclass skating meet at Shadow Lake.

Doyle was hard pressed by teammate John Woody in three of the four events. Woody had better times in two of the heats, but lost out in the finals.

Ed Danison led the juniors to second place with two thirds and a fourth. The sophomores scored 34 points and the juniors collected six. The seniors had four points and the freshmen class failed to score.

Coach LeRoy Haberkorn said all of the first places set new school records in the two-year old program. Thirteen boys competed this year as compared to three last year.

Others who placed were Tom Henrickson, Larry Hammond, George Borchardt and Tom Berlo. The victory gave the sophomore class a tie for first place in the all-sports race. The sophomores and juniors each have eight points. The seniors have two.

400 Expected at Career Program

CLINTONVILLE — Jerry Farwell, guidance director at the senior high school, said 47 speakers will be appearing on the annual career night program Feb. 13.

Fifty career fields will be discussed. There will be three sections, enabling each student to attend three different meetings.

About 400 students are expected to attend from Waupaca, Bear Creek, Manawa, Marion, Shiocton, Weyauwega and Clintonville. The program will begin at 7 and end at 10 p.m.

Paper Institute Staff Members Work on Books

Several Writing Individual Chapters Of Longer Texts

Several staff members of The Institute of Paper Chemistry are writing books and monographs or have completed them recently.

Dr. Harry Lewis, dean emeritus, is the editor of a book, Laboratory Planning for Chemistry and Chemical Engineering. It presents details of planning, industrial research and academic laboratories. Lewis is also one of the 24 authors whose efforts have gone into the book.

Dr. John W. Green, research associate, is editor of Volume III (cellulose volume) of a series of volumes on Methods of Carbohydrate Chemistry. Harold A. Swenson, research associate, is one of the authors contributing to the volume.

Analytical Group
Dr. B. L. Browning, chief of the analytical group, is editor and author of three chapters of a book, Chemistry of Wood. Authors of other chapters in the same book are Dr. Roland E. Kierners, senior research associate, Dr. M. A. Buchanan, research associate, and Dr. I. H. Isenberg, research associate.

Chapters in a new edition of College Textbook of Pulp and Papermaking have been written by Dr. Louis E. Wise, senior research associate, Dr. Edward F. Thode, coordinator, information processing, John W. Swanson, chief of the physical chemistry group, and Dr. Isenberg.

Dr. Isenberg is engaged in two other publications. The eighth chapter of his book Pulp and Paper Microscopy will be completed and published soon. Twelve chapters are planned. He is also working on a revision of Pulpwoods of the United States and Canada.

New Textbook
In addition to work previously mentioned, John Swanson is also writing a chapter for a book, Modern Pulp and Papermaking, and a chapter for a monograph on sizing.

Dr. Arild Miller, admissions director and formerly head of the chemistry department of Carleton College, is writing a chapter on chemical equilibrium for a book which is planned to serve either as a supplement or a new textbook for college general chemistry courses.

Discount Stock Bounces Back

Aerospace Issues Steady in Action On Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—A recovery by discount store shares and steadiness in aerospace issues were features of a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .10 at 252.50 with industrials down .20, rails up .10 and utilities unchanged.

While gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional, a few moves went to 1 or 2 points.

Discount stores were subjected to heavy selling Friday on a false rumor that an unfavorable article would appear about them today in a leading financial magazine. The stocks rebounded smartly as trading began, then trimmed their best gains.

Small Gains
Most of the aerospace issues held small gains despite disappointment over American space age projects this past weekend. Big Three motors and chemicals showed a higher trend. Oils, utilities, nonferrous metals, airlines and rubbers were irregular.

Korvette which was the most active stock Friday when it plummeted 4, recovered 1 1/2 of the loss on an opening block of 7,000 shares. Later it trimmed the rebound to a fraction. Interstate Department Stores, which fell 3 on Friday, snapped back 2 1/2 on an opener of 2,400 shares, then cut back a point of the advance.

Another feature was General Advertising which advanced more than a point.

Sears Roebuck had a sinking spell as it lost about 3. Woolworth was down more than a point.

U. S. Steel, which reports on finances and operations Tuesday, was easy. Other major steels were about unchanged.

Du Pont recovered a couple of points. Eastman Kodak was down a point or more.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .57 at 691.62.

Family Conferences Key to Long Marriage

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Emanuel McCarter, 50, and his wife, Pearl, 36, have used the family conference technique to iron out their disagreements.

It worked well, they said Sunday, as 150 friends and relatives honored them on their 67th wedding anniversary.

It worked except on one difference. McCarter was a Republican, his wife a Democrat.

McCarter worked that one out himself. "I became a Democrat three years ago," he confided.

Members of the AHS Future Nurses Club were busy Saturday collecting for the March of Dimes. From left are Robert Hauser, 332 S. Pine St., Kimberly, his daughter Ronda, 16 months; Joyce Hopfensperger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hopfensperger, 913 E. Winnebago St., and Lynne Gmeiner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James E. Gmeiner, 1560 Palisades Drive.

Pike Derby at Stockbridge in Its Fifth Week

Brillion Angler's Catch Tops List; Event Ends March 3

STOCKBRIDGE — The Pike Derby sponsored by the Stockbridge Community Chamber of Commerce is now in its fifth week.

Winners of $5 weekly gift certificates were Robert Deeg, 1814 N. Ulmann St., Appleton; Don Parsons, Stockbridge; Al Sell, Stockbridge; Jake Hansen, route 3, Chilton; and Walter Fisher, 126 Washington St., Brillion.

Fisher's fish also won the Pike Derby contest last week. It was the heaviest registered thus far in the contest weighing 4 lbs., 12 oz. Parsons' fish was about 3 1/2 pounds and the other three winners were all 4 lbs., 10 oz. The contest runs through March 3. The biggest fish taken will earn a trophy for the lucky angler.

There are no entry requirements, but the fish must be weighed in at Chamber of Commerce designated stations which include the Faro Springs Resort, Stockbridge Harbor, Mark Keuler's tavern, Stockbridge, and Grumm's Locker, Stockbridge.

Appleton Schools Hold Teacher Orientation Day

The two main speakers for the Appleton public schools teacher orientation today will be William Spears, Appleton's new assistant superintendent of schools, and Dr. Byron Hughes, professor of child development in the University of Michigan School of Education.

Spears, who started Jan. 2 as curriculum coordinator for kindergarten through 12th grade, will speak at a general meeting of all elementary teachers at 2 p.m. at Franklin School, and to junior and senior high school teachers at 3:30 p.m. at the Appleton High School auditorium.

Dr. Hughes will give a lecture on child growth and development to the elementary teachers after Spears' talk. At 3:30 p.m. he will meet with the steering committee, which includes representatives from each elementary school.

The topic for the inservice training program selected by the steering committee for this year is "Improved Learning through Knowledge of Child Growth and Outdoor Development." Dr. Hughes is coordinator of research in human development at the university.

Tuesday Dr. Hughes will visit schools and meet with school administrators. He will meet with the steering committee and any teachers interested at 4 p.m. at Jefferson School for an informal discussion.

Mathematics Test Set At Valley Lutheran

Twenty-five students of FVL will write the preliminary to the 1962 high school mathematics contest Feb. 15. The test, sanctioned by the Wisconsin Association of Secondary School Principals, will be taken under the direction of Miss Phyllis Kretzmann, mathematics teacher.

The scores of the test will be sent to the contest committee which will establish a cut-off of approximately 1,000 students for the final. The top student will receive an engraved certificate plus a mathematical handbook. The final test will be written March 24. The possible awards are a certificate, pins, books, and cash.

Housing Unit To be Erected At Institute

A new married student housing unit will be erected by the Institute of Paper Chemistry. Construction is expected to start around April 1. It will be the 10th married student housing unit in the institute's West Court Village area, and will displace the last of the quonset huts.

The new unit will be of the same design and architecture as other units in the area. It will be one story and provide four apartment units for families, with a central utility room for heating, laundry and storage.

With the new unit, the institute's West Court Village will accommodate 40 married students and their families.

3 Additional Candidates Take Papers

KAUKAUNA — With the deadline for filing nomination papers 5 p.m. Tuesday, three more candidates began circulating papers for offices today.

Walter Rutten, 700 Gertrude St., is seeking the office of city treasurer. Rutten, a real estate dealer, twice was an unsuccessful candidate for First Ward alderman. He is opposing Miss Ruth Wolf, who seeks a seventh term.

Philip Voights, 1705 Crooks Ave., is circulating papers for school commissioner, and is the sixth candidate seeking one of the three seats to be filled. An employee of the Combined Locks Paper Co. and president of the union at that plant, he previously was an unsuccessful candidate for Fourth Ward alderman.

Clarence O'Connor, 223 Taylor St., began circulating papers for the office of First Ward alderman. Bert E. Roberts, incumbent, is not seeking re-election. Also circulating papers is Irving Jansen O'Connor, a member of the tax department for Kimberly-Clark Corp., was an unsuccessful candidate for the same office last year.

Police Made Dash to Deliver False Teeth

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—A police car made a 35-mile dash from Buxton, Derbyshire, to a Manchester hospital to deliver a man's false teeth.

Cyril Johnston, 57, suffered a double fracture of the jaw in a road accident.

Surgeons at the hospital said they could not start repair work without Johnston's teeth, which remained in the wrecked car 35 to 180, after the first game but miles away. Police were called built up a 10-pin bulge by out-picked and delivered.

Resume Talks in Phone Dispute

Installers' Union, Western Electric Study New Proposals

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations were expected to resume today in efforts to settle a contract dispute affecting 16,000 Bell Telephone System installers in 43 states including Wisconsin. Negotiators for the Installers' Union and the Western Electric Co., the Bell System's manufacturing arm, met Sunday and discussed their talks at 1 a.m. today. Possibility of a strike last midnight was eliminated in the afternoon by Joseph A. Beirne, international president of the Communications Workers of America.

Richard Van Sistine, manager of the Appleton district of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., said a strike could have some effect on operations in the Fox River Valley. He said the district employs some members of the Installers' Union, but the precise number was not available immediately.

The union's membership had authorized a strike any time in a 30-day period which began at midnight.

Beirne said he had rejected an application for approval of a strike today because in his view no impasse existed.

A company spokesman indicated that no progress had been made on differences over wages. The spokesman said the union had pressed its proposals for replacement of a merit pay program by a 10-year progression scale, two wage regions instead of three, and higher wages.

Western Electric, the company spokesman said, had rejected the first two proposals and held to an earlier offer of a five-to-ten-cent hourly wage increase.

Menasha Bowler Loses TV Match

GREEN BAY — Menasha's Ed Zielinski was defeated by Ray Stobbe of Berlin, 612 to 569 in their televised Northeastern Wisconsin Bowling match Saturday afternoon.

Zielinski, who bowls for the Jitters and Joe's team in the Neenah City League at Muench's, took a 10-pin lead into the final game but Stobbe, the defending champion, closed with eight straight strikes for a 247 game.

Zielinski bowled 194 in the finale. The Menasha bowler trailed, 163 to 180, after the first game but miles away. Police were called built up a 10-pin bulge by out-picked and delivered.

Two CD Courses Have Openings

Auxiliary Police, First Aid Classes Begin Feb. 1

Openings in Civil Defense courses on auxiliary police and radiological monitoring and first aid have been announced by Lee Penney, Appleton-Outagamie Civil Defense director.

Penney said the classes will begin Feb. 1 in Appleton. Eight other Civil Defense courses to be held throughout the county are full. Registrations are being taken at the Civil Defense office in the courthouse.

The police and monitor course will begin at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 1 at Roosevelt School for nine two-hour sessions. The instructor is Ray Monteith.

The first aid course will meet at Huntley School Thursday evenings for nine two-hour sessions. A Red Cross first aid instructor will be in charge.

Penney said 343 county residents completed the basic Civil Defense in 1961. Thirty-five completed radiological monitoring courses, 33 completed auxiliary police courses and 125 completed first aid courses. All the courses began after Sept. 1, Penney said.

Noses Over on Lake

Flying Reporter Creates Story for Post-Crescent

CECIL — A Post-Crescent Sunday paper assignment turned into a personal experience news story for flying New London reporter John Sawall Saturday.

Sawall set out Saturday afternoon in his light plane to do what he thought would be a quick job. He was to take a picture of the state sales tax selling license thought to be Number 1 issued to Advance Hardware Co. at Cecil.

With Shawano Lake nearby, flying would be easier than driving, Sawall told his regional editor. That's where he was wrong.

The small two-place plane, owned by Paul F. Kamke, New London nosed over in a snow-bank as Sawall taxied across the lake to the Cecil side.

Hit Snowbank
Sawall said he was traveling over a patch of bare ice when his wheels suddenly hit a snow-bank causing the plane to end up on its nose about a half mile from shore.

Sawall jumped from the plane and settled it back on its wheels then trekked the distance to shore on foot.

He checked the hardware company only to find the owner didn't have license No. 1 but 2901. That story closed, Sawall called a friend for help in repairing the plane's bent propeller.

The two attached a rope to the plane's tail wheel and started pulling it more than a mile across the ice in a snowstorm. Four ice fishermen helped when the going got tough.

Check Out Plane
Sawall and Kamke returned Sunday to replace the propeller and check out the engine's crankshaft. They put skis on the plane and tried to taxi across the lake to nearby Shawano Airport. The snow was falling so heavily the two could hardly distinguish snow banks.

In desperation the two took off from the lake and set down at the airport, secured the plane and returned home by car. Sawall said he will get the plane sometime later this week. He's driving up on an assignment and driving home again. Someone else will fly the plane home, Sawall is to do a story on an autogiro.

Roush and McKechnie Newest Additions to Baseball Hall of Fame

Veterans Committee Selects Pair for Induction July 23

BY JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Edd Roush and Deacon Bill McKechnie, two sparkling names in National League history, have been named to Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Roush, 68, and McKechnie, 74, were elected Sunday as the 89th and 90th members by the veterans' committee which considers only players inactive for at least 30 years. They will be inducted July 23 at Cooperstown, N. Y., along with Bobby Feller and Jackie Robinson, named last week by the baseball writers from men retired at least five years but not more than 30 years.

Bill McKechnie

Roush was in Bradenton when he got the news by telephone from Paul Kerr, secretary of the veterans committee which had met in New York.

Come Too Late
"It's all right, but sometimes these things come too late," Roush said in Bradenton. "It takes them too long to vote on these players. Waiting for 30 years after a man becomes inactive, and five years to vote him in is too long. By that time a lot of men are not around any more."

Roush topped the writers' poll in 1960 but did not have the required three-fourths vote. This was the first time the veterans had considered him.

It was ironic that Roush should get the news in Florida. When he was a player he shunned spring training until the last minute. One year, 1930, he held out all season and never did join the Giants.

In recent years Roush puts on a uniform and helps around the

Premontre '5' Tips Lourdes on Fast Finish

Stays in Title Fight With 64-56 Victory

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Fast-finishing Premontre came out of its second straight pressure cooker right side up by defeating Oshkosh Lourdes, 64-56, here Sunday afternoon.

The Cadets poured in the game's last seven points to clinch their seventh Fox Valley Catholic Conference basketball win in nine games. This second sizzler in six days kept Premontre in the thick of the title chase, one step away from Appleton Xavier's 8-1 record.

Ken Payette, Tom Callahan, Art Helgeson and Bill Wesley teamed up to score the last seven points that pulled Premontre away from a shaky 57-56 lead.

Misses Game
Tuesday it was Paul Cibula notching the winning points in a 50-49 overtime win over Marinette Catholic Central. Sunday, the Cadets played without Cibula.

Wesley led a balanced Cadet score sheet with 17 points. Tom Lemorande hit 14. Payette 13 and Helgeson 10. Reggie Jungwirth led Lourdes with 21.

The win hiked Premontre's over-all record to 10-3. Lourdes is 4-4 in the conference and 9-5 for the season.

Premontre and Lourdes each give signs of pulling away by coming up with two 6-point and two 7-point spurts apiece, before the last three minutes. Lourdes also added an 8-point effort. Then came the 7-point clincher.

The Cadets led, 36-34, at half-time after an 18-18 first quarter. Lourdes went out front, 48-45, going onto the fourth.

Lemorande's long shooting resulted in 12 first half points that kept the Cadets from faltering in the wake of numerous troublesome spells that resulted from spotty passing against a press.

Premontre made 26 of 71 field goal tries and Lourdes had 18 of 69.

The Cadet Jayvees also won, 33-33.

The spectacularly resourceful Xavier High School basketballers removed a large obstacle from the path of their bid for the Fox Valley Catholic Conference title here Sunday afternoon by toppling their only 1961-2 conqueror, Marinette Central Catholic.

Xavier's Hawks gave a capacity crowd an eye-filling display of basketball teamwork as they decimated the Cavaliers, 51-36, to atone for a 48-47 loss in December.

The Gene Clark-coached Hawks all but ran Marinette off the premises in the first nine minutes by wheeling to a 20-4 lead with a deadly fast-break attack and an octopus-like full court press.

Use Ball Control
In the final eight minutes, Xavier borrowed the Cavaliers' own favorite weapon—ball control—and applied it expertly to seal the triumph.

Between those two telling segments of Hawk domination, the invaders held their own. In all but extinguishing Marinette's title hopes (with loss No. 4 in nine games), the Hawks stretched their league record to 8-1 and preserved their 1-game lead over Premontre, which defeated Lourdes yesterday.

The Hawks' winning streak now stands at eight and their overall record at 14-1.

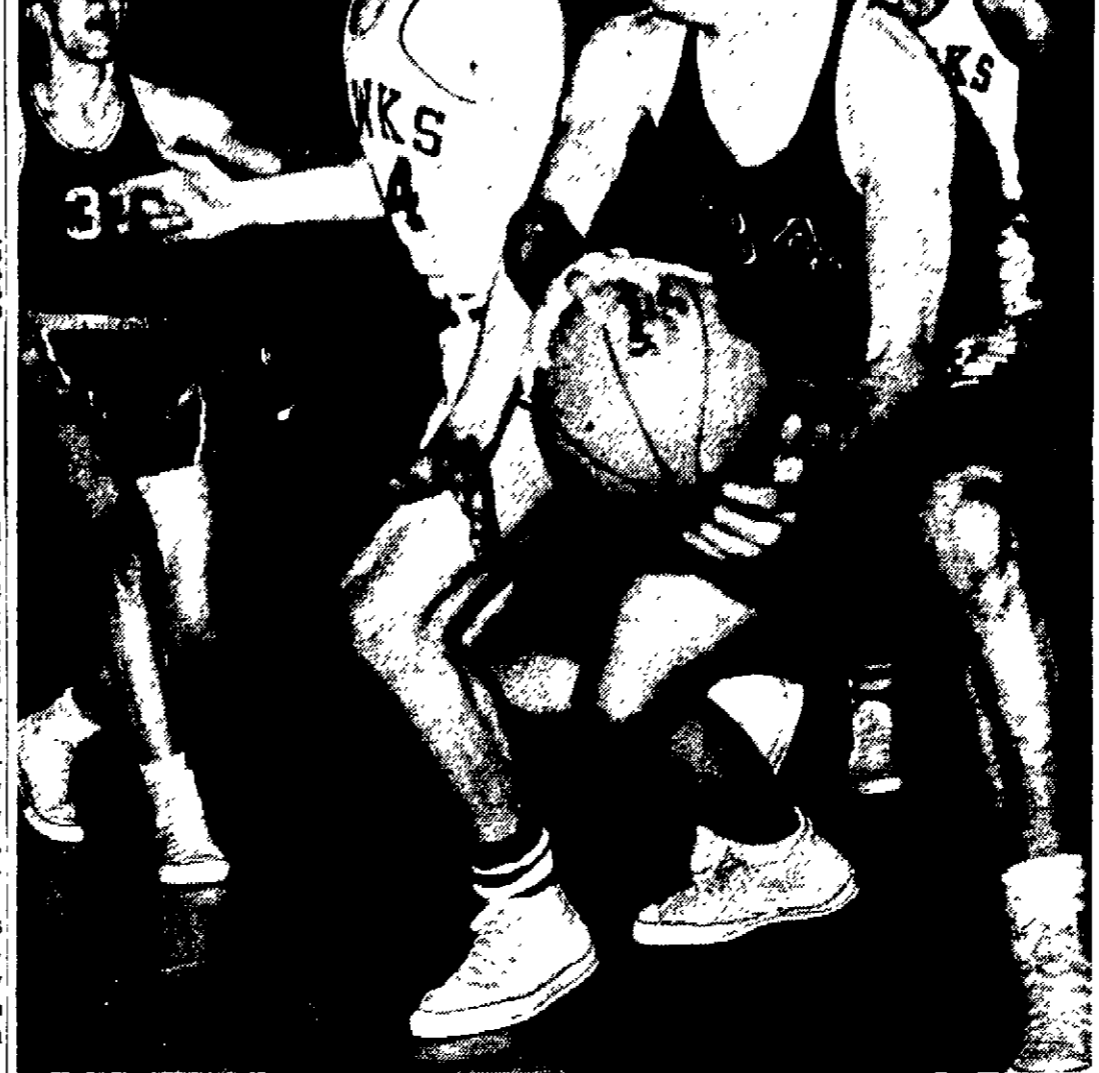

Xavier's three top scorers for the season came through in a virtual dead heat to pace Sunday's balanced offensive. "Kip" Whitlinger, Chuck Lueck and Dick Wiesner netted 14, 13 and 12 points, respectively. Dick Nordost headed Marinette, with 11. (In the first Xavier game he had scored 23).

The Hawks left Marinette at the post as they rocketed to leads of 7-0 and 11-1 before the invaders could get off much more than one legitimate shot at the basket. The Xavier pressers engineered at least three basket-producing steals in the early minutes and rattled the Cavaliers into throwing the ball away on several other occasions.

When Marinette was able to move the ball past mid-court, Xavier's 2-3 zone kept the visitors well to the outside.

Xavier High School's "Rocky" Bleier was busy on defense Sunday as this scene from the basketball game against Marinette shows. The Cavaliers' Paul Drees (34) has the ball, and teammate Dick Nordost (31) is at the left. The Hawks' Chuck Lueck is at the right. Xavier won, 51-36.

Buckeyes Meet Purdue, Seek 20th Straight Big Ten Win

Indiana and High-Scoring Rayl To Face Northwestern Tonight

BY JOE MOOSHL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State, Wisconsin and Indiana's Jimmy Rayl hit the road tonight in the Big Ten basketball race which somehow retains its interest despite the monotony of Ohio State's growing winning streak.

The top-ranked Buckeyes, having suffered but one conference defeat in three years, will be at Purdue where they have plans of tying the modern Big Ten victory record of 20 straight set by Indiana in 1950.

Wisconsin's perfect 3-0 conference mark will be jeopardized at Illinois where the Badgers play without the services of their top scorer, Ron Jackson. Jackson is sidelined the rest of the season because of scholastic difficulties.

Leading Average
Rayl is the newest toast of a conference which boasts such stars as Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue. A frail junior who packs a mere 145 pounds on his 6-2 frame, Rayl smashed the Big Ten record for a single game with 56 points in an 105-104 overtime victory over Minnesota Saturday night.

Ind., and specializes in outside shooting, will try to retain his conference leading average of 38.6 points a game at Northwestern. The Hoosiers, because of Rayl and a 2-1 record, have become a title factor in what appears to be the hopeless task of nine teams trying to prevent Ohio State from winning a third straight championship.

Rayl's 56 points wiped out the previous record of 52 set by Dischinger against Michigan State last season. Dischinger was somewhat busy himself Saturday in scoring 50 points against Wisconsin but the Badgers held on for an 89-86 triumph.

If Ohio State is to stumble, it could be tonight despite the fact the Buckeyes rolled over Purdue last week, 91-65, in a game which saw Dischinger score a career low of nine points.

Purdue is tough at home and Dischinger, hampered by an injured finger, should be in top shape to resume his duel with Lucas. Lucas scored 32 points in the Buckeyes' lop-sided triumph over the Boilermakers, marking the first time he had bested Dischinger in head-to-head meetings.

Meanwhile Rayl's performance against Minnesota was called, "one of the greatest exhibitions of outside shooting I've ever seen in 32 years of coaching" by Indiana's Branch McCracken.

His final basket, a desperation 20-footer, provided the Hoosier triumph. His 20 field goals tied a conference record set by Michigan's John Tidwell last season. Minnesota's 104 points became the highest score recorded by a losing team. Ironically, the previous mark was established in Minnesota's 104-100 victory over Indiana earlier this season.

Wisconsin Quint Makes First Start Without Jackson

Home-Standing Illinois Favored in Tonight's Tilt

MADISON (AP)—Coach Johnny Erickson will find out tonight how his surprising Wisconsin basketball machine runs without one of its most vital cogs—high scoring Ron Jackson.

The Badgers are at Illinois in another tough Big Ten game, but despite their amazing come-from-behind 89-86 victory over Purdue on Saturday, will start as underdogs.

Before leaving for Champaign Sunday, Erickson said, "We may not win another game all season," but his tone of voice made it obvious he didn't believe the situation was nearly that desperate and that the Badgers will take pretty good care of themselves the rest of the way.

"Don't think we won't miss Jackson," Erickson said. "Among other things we're losing a threat. Opponents had to spend a lot of time defending him. Until we establish another threat, opponents won't have to concentrate on one man." Jackson was sidelined by low grades.

Sixth in Scoring
Picked to replace Jackson was the squad's only senior, Tom Hughbanks, the Badgers' top scorer in the last two seasons and currently sixth on the list with 89 points.

"Hughbanks deserves first crack on the basis of his play to date," Erickson said.

Hughbanks tossed in four points in Saturday's conquest of Purdue while Jackson was getting 21 to run his total for 13 games to 288. The high man for Wisconsin was Don Hearden with 23.

The Badgers had trailed twice in the first half by as much as 11 points, and were behind 43-32 after the first 20 minutes, but they weren't through.

"Gentlemen," said Erickson after the game, "you spell our victory today g-u-t-s."

The Badgers, the coach said, "couldn't loosen up, couldn't run in the first half. We acted as if steel bands were around our legs."

Johansson Has Spinal Troubles; Bout Postponed

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Former world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden said Sunday his 10-round fight against Joe Bygraves of Jamaica, scheduled for Feb. 2, has been postponed one week.

Johansson, 29, is suffering from spinal troubles.

"I have had troubles with my back before and I felt it again recently during my training," said Johansson. "That's why my adviser Edwin Ahlquist, who is with six-footers after fine appointments the match, my doctor postponed the match for one week."

"My old injury is definitely better but I must feel 100 per cent safe that my back will stand the toughest exertions. That is why both boded the 18th, but by I need another week to recover," then it was all over.

Instead, a finish duel developed with Knudson, Casper and Rosburg all making a run for the top money—and falling back in the face of Littler's two key birdies on the stretch holes.

At the finish it was Littler by two with the 24-year-old Knudson picking up his biggest tournament check with $4,600 for second place at 276. Casper and Rosburg finished at 277 for $2,800 each before heading for this week's Desert Classic at Palm Springs.

Dow Finsterwald came from far back to shoot a six-under-par 30 on the front nine. But Dow came up with bogey trouble and wound up tied in fifth place with 279.

Littler took bogeys at 11, 12 and 13 on bad chip shots. Knudson pulled up even with him, with Casper and Rosburg just one stroke back.

Littler's putter caught fire then, said Johansson. "That's why my adviser Edwin Ahlquist, who is with six-footers after fine appointments the match, my doctor postponed the match for one week."

Gene went ahead on 14 when each of his three pressing rivals took pars. Casper blew himself to a bogey at 15.

Knudson had pars all along on the back nine until he and Littler toughest exertions. That is why both boded the 18th, but by I need another week to recover," then it was all over.

Now Has Sights Set On Half-Mile Record

Coch Predicts 22-Year-Old Can Cut Mile to 3:48

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — While his coach jubilantly predicted he could cut the record to an unbelievable 3:48, Peter Snell, the new world mile record holder, said today he would try to break the world half-mile standard Saturday.

Snell, who trimmed a tenth of a second off Herb Elliott's mile mark with a 3:54.4 clocking in a meet at Cooks Gardens in nearby Wanganui, last Saturday, said he thinks he can beat the half-mile record of 1:46.8 held by American Tom Courtney.

"I'm going to give it a whirl in a meet in Christchurch Saturday," the 22-year-old surveyor said. "They have a fast track there and I think I can do it."

"I'm sure he's capable of lowering the mile record to 3:48," said his happy coach, Arthur Lydiard, who also handles Murray Halberg, the world 2-mile and 5-mile record holder.

Olympic Record
Until he broke the record, Snell never had been able to get into the sub-4-minute mile club. In fact until he beat Roger Moens of Belgium in the 800 meters in an Olympic record 1:46.3 at the 1960 Rome games, Snell had not made much of a mark in international competition.

Elliott, who set his record of 3:51.5 on Aug. 6, 1958 in Dublin, said at Cambridge University that he will head for Sweden in July to start serious training for the Empire Games in Perth Australia later this year.

"Two months of strict training would bring me back to my Rome free throw made it 7-0 before Sam Kemp put Marinette on the board with a free toss."

The crowd noise was deafening as Luck hit again from the corner. Wiesner connected from the far out and Luck coined a free throw to pad the lead to 12-1.

Nordst gave Marinette its first lead with the period 4 minutes, second, to a sub-4-minute mile for 17 seconds old. Don Anderson's free throw made it 12-4 before the Hawks pitched in eight successive points. Whitlinger and the sub-4 minute mile club were Luck each scored before the end of the quarter giving Xavier a 16-4 advantage.

"Rocky" Bleier tipped in a rebound, and Whitlinger hit from a deep corner position, and the scoreboard flashed a 20-4 margin in the second stanza.

To the Cavaliers' credit, they refused to panic and began making a ball game of it. After sinking only one of seven shots in the first quarter, Marinette made its deliberate style pay off in the second period.

The Cavaliers sank their first three floor shots and their first four free throws of the second stanza as they matched the Hawks, 19-19, in point production.

Paul Drees scored his only four baskets of the game in the second quarter to pace the Marinette revival. Whitlinger accumulated his third foul with five minutes remaining in the period and spent the rest of the half on the bench.

Marinette trimmed its deficit to six points on two occasions — 23-17 and 25-19, but the Hawks winged through six points in the last 32 seconds to earn a 33-23 halftime edge.

The Cavaliers came within seven (37-30) midway through the slow, low scoring third period, but Wiesner and Whitlinger put the Hawks back into 11-point breathing room (49-30) with quarter-ending baskets.

Pulled Out of one
Xavier went to the cat-and-mouse circuit at the outset of the fourth quarter and finally pulled the Cavaliers out of their zone in not-too-successful pursuit of the ball. The Hawks controlled the ball for the first two minutes, missing their only two shots but clumping the rebounds.

Marinette didn't get its first shot in the fourth quarter until 3:00 had elapsed. Kemp missed the shot but was fouled and promptly dropped two free throws and the score was 51-52.

In the next 12 minutes, each team scored four points. Xavier scored the last six points of the game as it continued to vary its ball-control theme with an occasional drive or sleeper.

Meanwhile, the invincible Cavaliers played right into the Hawks' hands. In the final minute, the Mavericks coughed a pass, continued their ball-control offense, right up to the end, using up 25 or more seconds to get off a shot despite their sizable deficit.

Strong defense, especially by Blair and Ed Blinn, added to the Hawks' momentum. Xavier shot 17 of 44, but lost the game 61-54 in a 142-point contest.

Kotlarek Brothers Cop Ski Titles at Madison

Crowd of 9,000 Sees 19-Year-Old Beat National Champ

MADISON (AP) — Gene and Glen, the Kotlarek brothers from Duluth, Minn., won a title apiece Sunday in the Central U.S. Ski Association jumping championships.

Gene topped the Class A field and Glen, Class B. Leaping into the winners circle with them was Ed Brisson of Minneapolis who repeated as the veterans champion, and Madison's Dave Norby, a junior rider who had passed up the national tournament a week earlier because he didn't think he had a chance.

The 19-year-old Norby turned in one of the top performances of the meet, which drew a record field of 127 for competition on the hill of Madison's Blackhawk Ski Club. A crowd estimated at 9,000 was on hand.

Norby got off one of the two longest jumps of the event, piled up the highest point total of any of the division champions, won the most graceful rider award and beat the national junior champion, Clyde Brodt of Minneapolis.

Norby's best leap was 179 feet. His distance was matched by Dag Helgestad of Minneapolis, the second place finisher in Class A. However, the effort was far short of the hill record of 191 feet set last year by Finland's Aarne Volkama.

By adding a 174-foot leap, Norby finished with 223.7 points, an easy victory over Brodt. The Minneapolis youngster had jumps of 173 and 172 feet for 216.7 points.

Gene Kotlarek registered 175 feet on each of his jumps and finished with 220.3 points, a safe margin over Helgestad who collected 214.0 points. Kotlarek was a member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team.

Brother Glen collected 211.9 points on jumps of 161 and 175 feet. He will join Gene this week as a student at the University of Minnesota-Duluth.

Brisson, 39 and the father of six children, rolled up 199.5 points on jumps of 151 and 159 feet. Division leaders, with jumps and points:

Arizona Beauty Resort a Loser

BY SYLVIA PORTER
PHOENIX, Ariz. — No health-beauty-reducing resort in the world has a reputation for being as spectacularly expensive as "Arizona Maine Chance" — and the understandable impression is that its sole owner, Elizabeth Arden, makes a mint of money from the fees paid here.

The general impression is 100 per cent wrong. Not in the 15 years that Elizabeth Arden has had this resort in Arizona (the original in Maine is 30 years old) has she made it pay. Her annual losses have been shrinking recently, but they're still losses. The plain fact is she can't operate here at a profit under today's setup.

Slim Chance
What's more, a probing examination of this operation shouts a warning to any of you who dream or plan to go into the increasingly popular "reducing farm" business that your chances of survival are exceedingly slim. You may be able to absorb the red ink on your resort if you have something else to promote in connection with it — as, for instance, Arden has via her line of cosmetics. Even so, you'd be wise not even to consider this business unless you have superb meals, prepared by a French chef, served in a magnificent dining room. Add room and faithful staff, years of knowledge and a generous allotment of other expenses hidden in any resort — an incredible becomes

I have just spent two weeks at Maine Chance — a spot which has been catapulted into international here?" I asked our hostess one evening in a startled voice she publicized visits of the past few years. As a paying client, I've found out exactly what one gets for the fee; as a reporter specializing in finance, I've asked questions no one cared or dared to ask before. Here goes, therefore, with a tale of Arden hitherto untold. It may seem incredible that Arden loses money year after year on a resort charging from $65 to over $100 per day per woman — with alcoholic beverages forbidden and a modicum of entertainment. But read on.

First, there's the background — four houses on 45 cultivated acres in the heart of the desert which can accommodate a maximum of 35 clients at a time, and the season runs only from November to April 15.

Treat, Treat
Against this tough background, consider what a woman gets for her fee: a daily hairdo, daily manicure or pedicure, daily massage and heat treatments, daily skin and facial care, daily series of exercise in and out of a warmed pool supervised by professionals, a half-dozen other luxurious health services.

Any woman who ever has had a fraction of "the works" at a beauty salon easily can add up what this costs — and so can any man who has paid the bills. I counted 11 separate experts working on and for me per day; at 1962's may scales, they take a giant slice of the fee. Add on the superb meals, prepared by a French chef, served in a magnificent dining room. Add room and bath, housemaids. Add on all the other and other expenses hidden in any resort — an incredible becomes overhead costs, premium food, business and was tired of being how could she, unless the place away from his family.

Carey, who also played with the New York Yankees, and his wife, former movie starlet Lucy Marlow, have two children, a daughter, 21, and a son who is 5½ and going to school for the first time.

Loss, Loss
"And as a result, many try to imitate her and lose their shirts," was her quick retort.

This leads to the second point — the warning to would-be entrants into the reducing field, already estimated at running close to $1 billion a year. This whole industry is exploding now.

But the bankrupt rate is exploding too, because the hopefuls do not have enough cash to carry them through the initial trial periods, they don't realize how much the services cost, they can't hold the skilled workers, essential to the success of this type of resort, they don't have the subsidies to absorb and justify the losses.

Incidentally, the professionals say there's no comparable retreat catering solely to men — and "Maine Chance" may explain why. Probably only a woman with an earned fortune in the bank plus romance in her soul would persistently lose money on so grand a scale in pursuit of beauty for others.

Andy Carey Says He May Quit Baseball Career

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Andy Carey, the third baseman acquired by the Philadelphia Phillies from the Chicago White Sox, may give up baseball.

Carey told Ray Kelly, Philadelphia Bulletin sports writer, his decision had nothing to do with money.

"The Phillies sent me a very nice contract," he said. "In fact I just finished writing a letter to Mr. John Quinn saying how much I appreciated his kindness."

Speaking from his California home, Carey explained he had a budding career in the brokerage

General Merchandise, Penney Merger OK'd

Discount Business Stockholders Will Vote on Agreement Feb. 20

J. C. Penney Co. and General Merchandise Co., announced today that their boards of directors had authorized the execution of an agreement for the acquisition of General Merchandise assets by Penney, or a wholly-owned subsidiary of Penney, in exchange for 227,745 shares of Penney common stock.

The exchange is at the rate of 37 of a share of Penney common for each share of General Merchandise common, the same ratio as stated in the Dec. 19, 1961, announcement that acquisition discussions were underway between the two firms.

It is anticipated that the agreement will be executed early this week.

Traffic Death Toll Down in Fox Cities Area Counties

Fox Cities area counties noted a general decrease in traffic fatalities in 1961 as compared to 1960, the State Motor Vehicle Department has announced.

In Outagamie County, 14 people were killed in 1961 and 19 in 1960. Winnebago County fatalities decreased from 27 to 20 and Wauwata County recorded 11 deaths in 1961 as compared to 13 in 1960. Calumet County had 13 fatalities last year as compared to 15 in 1960. Brown County recorded 26 deaths in 1961 and 32 in 1960.

The month-by-month traffic death tolls for the state during the past year were: January 70, February 57, March 58, April 62, May 69, June 81, July 87, August 90, September 80, October 81, November 85 and December 80.

3 Persons Hurt In 2-Car Crash

Three persons were injured in the collision of cars driven by Richard W. Stecker, 23, of Hillbert and Will F. Phalen, 75, of Malone at 10 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of U.S. 10 and State 114 in Calumet County near North Shore Golf Club.

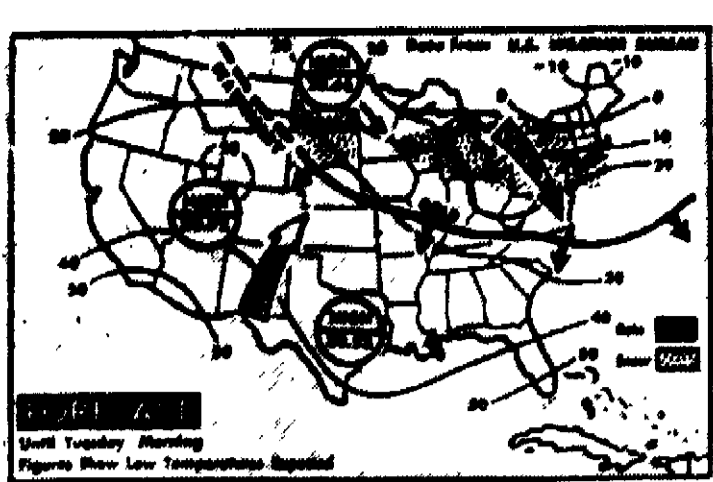

State police reported Stecker was traveling west on 114 and had nearly stopped for the arterial at the intersection with 10. The accident occurred as Phalen turned right off 10 onto 114.

Mrs. Stecker, 22, received a bruised right leg. Hubert Taff, 71, of Fond du Lac, received a deep cut under his chin and his wife, Rose, received a bruised forehead. Both were passengers in the Phalen car. The injured were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by a passer-by for treatment and then released.

Kastenmeier Asks High Milk Props

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department was asked by Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., today to maintain price supports for milk at the present rate, or higher.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, which the congressman made public, Kastenmeier said there are rumors that some groups want to cut the support price to about $3.40 a hundred pounds. It now is $3.40.

Kastenmeier said such a reduction is unwarranted and would do great damage to the nation's dairy industry.

Fox Cities May Get More Snow

4 Inches Fell Over Weekend, Season Figure Hits 30.5

A persistent low pressure cell still threatens the Fox Cities with intermittent snow for the next few days. The area could be blanketed by an additional 2 inches.

With the 4 inches of snow that was recorded between 4 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. this morning the total accumulation for the Fox Cities has hit 30.5 inches so far this season, far above the average 22 inches recorded through January.

A high near 20 is forecast for today and tomorrow. Tonight's low will be about 10 above.

Warmer weather is possible by Wednesday, but no major temperature change is expected until the weekend when it probably will get warmer.

Below Normal

Temperatures in the state will average near or a little below normal. Normal high is 18-25, low 10-15. Normal high is 18-25, low 10-15. Normal high is 18-25, low 10-15.

The state traffic patrol said that at 6 a.m. the state's main roads were in good to fair condition with snow at all.

A winter storm struck the Dixie coast from North Carolina to Maryland with icy rain and up to a foot of snow. It closed hundreds of schools and left many roads treacherous before swooping out to sea.

Whipped by Winds

The storm, whipped by strong winds, lumbered into North Carolina early Sunday. It swept up the coast through southern Virginia and hopped over to the Maryland Eastern Shore.

Washington, which trembles at a snow forecast, was spared.

South of the snow belt, rain poured along the coast as far as Georgia. Flash flooding was reported to have struck the Rocky River at Norwood, N.C.

In Virginia, Richmond—the capital of the Old Dominion—got 8 inches, Blackstone 10 inches. The heaviest fall—12 inches — was measured at Chatham, Norfolk.

At four inches and Fredericksburg that at 6 a.m. the state's main roads were in good to fair condition with snow at all.

Sudan Government Releases Prisoner

KHARTOUM Sudan (AP)—The government released 10 political prisoners, including two ex-premiers, Sunday. They had been held at Juba in southern Sudan since their arrest in July on charges of criticizing the military regime.

The two ex-premiers are Ismail El Azzhari and Abdalla Khalil. The latter's government was ousted by the military premier, Gen. Ibrahim Abboud, in November 1958 and political parties were dissolved.

Madison Produce

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin farm eggs: weak; supply adequate to fully ample, demand slow to good. Prices paid net producer: Grade A large 30-39, mostly 34-38; Grade A medium 28-37, mostly 29-33; Grade B large 17-28, mostly 19-23; smalls 14-18, mostly 15-16.

Tax Group Preparing Report On Compliance With New Laws

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — In the dominance of publicity and administrative difficulties of the new sales tax and withholding laws, the drive for compliance with the income tax laws and for the punishment of delinquents has become subordinated.

But the state income tax administration is preparing a report, which will be available soon, suggesting that the round of prosecutions launched during the last couple of months has had the results that were planned for it.

Squaring Accounts

Hundreds of non-filers and tax debtors are coming in to square their accounts with the district assessors of incomes.

Meanwhile the enforcement division of the state income tax department is awaiting anxiously the February list of decisions of the Wisconsin State Supreme Court, which is expected to contain a ruling on a key pending case in the income tax enforcement drive.

It involves a charge against a young Grant County lawyer for failure to file his personal tax returns for three consecutive years. The appeal is on a technical point of law. The defendant claims that there is a section of the income tax code providing for a fine, and another providing for imprisonment upon conviction for violation. The tax department is not empowered to take the more severe of the penalties provided, according to the appeal to the court.

Many of the tax department officers, meanwhile, are working many over-time hours—without compensation — while the lesser service classifications, such as clerks and typists, are allowed over-time pay or compensatory time-off.

The distinction results from the insistence of Tax Commissioner John Gronowski that officials in the professional levels of competence and salary should expect from time to time to be called upon for work beyond the normally measured work day or week.

Robert L. Sucher, the young Madison lawyer who has announced as a Republican candidate for governor, obviously intends to exploit the fact that his maternal family name is LaFollette and that he is a grandson of the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette Sr. But surviving members of the LaFollette clan in Madison have given him no encouragement, and in fact are letting it be known that they have no sympathy for his adventure.

A leading Wisconsin politician has explained to Wilbur Reuk, who wants the Republican gubernatorial nomination but won't stand for GOP convention endorsement, why his candidacy will get a chilly reception from many of the Republican organization regulars.

"He who would quaff the wine must first labor in the vineyards," the old pro told the Sun Prairie farmer whose first of fire-seeking venture is his campaign for the state's highest office.

Democrats now control the state conservation commission by a margin of four to two, and there is some curiosity resulting about the fact that Chairman Guido Rahr's term as its head is expiring. Rahr is one of the survivors of Republican regimes and is the dean of the commission membership.

Lack Experience

As a guess, the distinguished Manitowoc businessman will be re-elected, for at least one more one year term, primarily because none of the Democratic members has yet attained the confidence and reasoning that comes with seniority. The first of Gov. Nelson's commissioners were named only two and one half years ago. Rahr started his commission service in 1943.

Politicians expect that George Thompson of La Crosse, the Republican nominee for attorney general in the last two election campaigns, will seek another nomination this year. The result will be a fairly lively contest for the endorsement of the GOP convention in the spring, and possibly in the primary election in the fall. Robert Marutz, the former assembly speaker, and George Griesch, former Outagamie County district attorney, are also expected to compete for the nomination.

The state department of tax-

Take Ride With Glenn Around Earth

Reach 40 Miles in 2 Minutes, Travel
18,000 Miles an Hour

BY ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Chicago Daily News Service

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Come along with astronaut John Glenn as he sweeps around the world in 90 minutes.

The big Atlas rocket will boost you off the earth in seconds.

By the end of the first two minutes, you'll be 40 miles up and 45 miles out and looking down the far reaches of the South Atlantic.

In five minutes, you're over Bermuda, about 100 miles high, and entering into orbit.

Now traveling at a speed of almost 18,000 miles an hour, you're heading for North Africa. The Sahara Desert flashes by below. In less than 15 minutes you're across Africa, now passing cooperation has been getting satisfying cooperation from Wisconsin employers in the administration of the new income tax withholding act as it applies to non-residents employed by Wisconsin firms.

The officials are prepared, however, for some griping from employee groups next month when the first wage and salary deductions are made and those workers who do not live in Wisconsin become aware that the state treasury is nicking them for the support of Wisconsin public services.

over the Indian Ocean on the long slant to Australia.

You reach halfway around the world to Australia in 45 minutes and pass over the country down under in the still of darkness.

Race Across Pacific

Now you race across the Pacific toward the sun for another dawn on the other side of the globe. The gradual fading of dusks and dawns will be repeated six times on your three-orbital mission.

Again, the Americas come into view and you enter northern Mexico, then cross into the United States near Corpus Christi, Tex., and there across the deep southern states and out into the Atlantic for the second time around.

The second trip will be essentially the same, except there is a more southerly route over the Atlantic and Africa and a more northerly route over Australia and the Pacific.

Curve of Horizon

You won't be high enough at 100 miles to see the earth as a globe, but you will see the distinct curve of the horizon. The earth's diameter is 8,000 miles and you should be able to see a segment of about 1,800 miles, or the distance from Chicago to Miami.

You won't see the familiar serial landmarks of the airplane pilot, like small towns, but you'll see larger towns, mountains and the Mississippi River.

The color of the earth will be a brownish green, the space around you will be a deep purple color but down close to the edges of the horizon you will see the familiar blue of our sky.

On your final pass, you will come across the United States about midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco and slant across northern Texas south eastward toward Canaveral finally plunging into the Atlantic about 800 miles from here.

What a wonderful idea...
